Debates in Geography Education Mark Jones, David Lambert, 2017-09-07 Debates in Geography Education encourages early career teachers, experienced teachers and teacher educators to engage with and reflect on key issues, concepts and debates. It aims to enable readers to reach their own informed judgements with deeper theoretical knowledge and understanding. The second edition is fully updated in light of the latest research, policy and practice in the field as well as key changes to the curriculum and examination specifications. Expert contributors provide a range of perspectives on international, historical and policy contexts in order to deepen our understanding of significant debates in geography education. Key debates include geography's identity as an academic discipline, what constitutes knowledge in geography, places and regional geography, what it means to think geographically, constructing the curriculum, how we link assessment to making progress in geography, the contribution of fieldwork and outdoor experiences, technology and the use of Geographical Information Systems, school geography and employability, understanding the gap between school and university geography, evidence-based practice and research in geography education. The comprehensive, rigorous coverage of these key issues together with carefully annotated selected further reading will help support and shape further research and writing. Debates in Geography Education is a key resource that is essential reading for all teachers and researchers who wish to extend their grasp of the place of geography in education. Mark Jones is Senior Lecturer in Education at the University of the West of England, Bristol, UK. David Lambert is Professor of Geography Education at UCL Institute of Education, London, UK. The History of Oxford University Press: Volume IV Keith Robbins, 2017-05-26 The story of Oxford University Press spans five centuries of printing and publishing. Beginning with the first presses set up in Oxford in the fifteenth century and the later establishment of a university printing house, it leads through the publication of bibles, scholarly works and the Oxford English Dictionary to a twentieth-century expansion that created the largest university press in the world, playing a part in research, education and language learning in more than 50 countries. With access to extensive archives, the four-volume History of OUP traces the impact of long-term changes in printing technology and the business of publishing. It also considers the effects of wider trends in education, reading and scholarship, international trade and the spreading influence of the English language and in cultural and social history, both in Oxford and through its presence around the world. In the decades after 1970, Oxford University Press met new challenges but also a period of unprecedented growth. In this concluding volume, Keith Robbins and 21 expert contributors assess OUP's changing structure, its academic mission and its business operations through years of economic turbulence and continuous technological change. The Press repositioned itself after 1970, it brought its London Business School to Oxford, closed its Printing House and rapidly developed new publishing for English language teaching in regions far beyond its traditional markets. Yet in an increasingly competitive worldwide industry, OUP remained the department of a major British university, sharing its commitment to excellence in scholarship and education. The resulting opportunities and sometimes tensions are traced here through detailed consideration of OUP's business decisions the vast range of its publications and the dynamic role of its overseas offices Concluding in 2004 with new forms of digital publishing The History of OUP sheds new light on the cultural educational and business life of the English speaking world in the late twentieth century Quarterly Current Affairs - April to June 2017 for Competitive Exams Disha Experts,2017-07-11 Quarterly Current Affairs April to June 2017 for Competitive Exams is a unique handy magbook as it gives the complete update of the 2nd Quarter months of 2017 The book talks of all the recent developments in the field of Polity Economics Science Technology Sports Art Culture etc This book would prove to be an asset for all students aspiring for the different competitive exams The book highlights the gist of the 2nd Quarter of 2017 through Game Changers Causes Effects Quote Unquote etc
