

17.  $1.69 \times 10^{22}$  carbon atoms;  $9.87 \times 10^{23}$  hydrogen atoms;
 $4.25 \times 10^{21}$  chlorine atoms;  $2.82 \times 10^{21}$  oxygen atoms

18. a. 111.11 g/mol

b.  $1.20 \times 10^{25}$  carbon atoms;  $1.20 \times 10^{25}$  hydrogen atoms;  $4.82 \times 10^{24}$  oxygen atoms;  $2.41 \times 10^{24}$  nitrogen atoms

19. The order by mass is: carbon, oxygen, nitrogen, hydrogen. The order by number of atoms is: hydrogen, carbon, oxygen, nitrogen. The orders are not the same, because atoms of different elements have different masses.

20. To convert number of particles of a substance to amount of moles, divide by the Avogadro constant. To convert amount of moles of a substance to number of particles, multiply by the Avogadro constant.

21. a. 4.25 kg                      b. 14.5 kg

22. They would all have the same number of molecules, because each substance has the same number of molecules per mole (the Avogadro constant).

23. 57.51 g ethanol, 22.49 g water

24. a. Measure the mass of the one dozen marbles and divide by 12. Note: Students may, for simplicity, assume the mass of the plastic bag is negligible, or add a step to weigh a sample of plastic bags and determine an average mass to be subtracted from the mass of the sample.

b. First method—Multiply the mass of one marble by 365.

Second method—Divide 365 by 12 to determine how many dozen marbles are in the jar. Multiply the number by the mass of one dozen marbles.

c. First method—Multiply the mass of one marble by  $6.02 \times 10^{23}$ .

Second method—Divide  $6.02 \times 10^{23}$  by 12 to find how many dozen marbles are in one mole. Then, multiply the number of dozen marbles by the mass of one dozen to get the mass of one mole of marbles.

Measuring the mass of one dozen marbles is like calculating the molecular molar mass of a substance with 12 atoms per molecule. To get the mass of one molecule, you would divide the molar mass by the Avogadro constant, just like you divide the mass of the dozen marbles by 12 to get the mass of one marble.

To find the specific mass of a particular number of particles of a substance, you would divide the number of particles by the Avogadro constant to get the amount of moles, and then multiply by the molar mass to determine the mass.

Chapter 6 Proportions in Chemical Compounds

Learning Check Questions

1. Yes, water is the same regardless of the source. We know this because of the law of definite proportions.
2. Elements will form bonds with other elements until all of their valence shells are full. This can be achieved by many proportions of the same elements.
3. Both sets of terms (definite and constant, and proportion and composition) indicate that the ratio of elements in a compound remains the same.
4. No, the mass percent of carbon in carbon dioxide cannot change, based on the law of definite composition.
5. Yes, because the carbon is present in different ratios in each compound.
6. a. 57.1%
b. Carbon and oxygen have different mass percents because their molar masses are different.

7. There is one atom of carbon for every four atoms of hydrogen, so the ratio is 1:4.
8. Both provide information about the proportions of elements found in the compound. However, the proportions in a percentage composition are based on the overall mass of each element found in the compound, while the proportions in a molecular formula are based on the number of atoms of each element in the compound.
9. The molecular formula shows the actual number of atoms of each element in a molecule of the substance, while the empirical formula only tells you the ratios of the atoms in a molecule.
10. The molecular and empirical formulas are the same when the actual number of atoms of each element in a compound is already in the lowest whole number ratio.
