Cost Management Edward Blocher, Kung H. Chen, W. Thomas Lin, 1999 Can Contingent Convertibles Help Private Asset Managers Fund Their Acquisition of Non-Performing Loans from Portuguese Banks? Mr. Andre

O Santos, 2019-05-07 This paper analyzes the capital structure of private asset managers in which the acquisition of nonperforming loans NPLs is funded with Contingent Convertibles CoCos placed with investors The paper develops a model based on NPL transfer prices and residual recovery rates to assess capital structures consisting of CoCos and equity The CoCos would contain put and call options to write down losses and write up profits respectively arising from liquidation and restructuring procedures The paper concludes that the protection mechanism provided by debt write downs embedded in CoCos and the incentives to investors provided by debt write ups could help bridge the gap between Portuguese banks NPL bid prices and private equity firms ask prices

Research Priorities Concerning Formal and Informal Learning in Low- and Middle-Income Countries Julie Ann Robinson, Josafá Moreira Da Cunha, Peter Baguma, 2026-01-06 The priority areas for research in low and middle income countries are often markedly different from those in high income countries Because most high impact academic journals are staffed by editors and reviewers from high income countries these priorities are poorly represented in most of journals even though they affect the lives of the world's majority population This outcome impedes the dissemination of the evidence necessary to achieve sustainable development goals held by low and middle income countries It also limits the expansion of knowledge in high income countries since insights into many underlying processes can be gained only from studying contexts and populations that are available exclusively in low and middle income countries This Research Topic focuses on those research priorities in low and middle income countries that are related to education broadly defined to include formal and informal learning at all stages in the lifespan Education was chosen as a focus because it is critical mechanism for achieving many international development goals including those relating to young children's school readiness school children's academic skills adolescents vocational skills adult farmers agricultural extension courses or older adults understanding of health literacy campaigns Research in many disciplines is required to make progress in formal and informal education on low and middle income countries and formal and informal education is relevant to the key areas of interest in many disciplines Therefore this Research Topic invites submissions from researchers in psychology e.g. attitudinal factors affecting access, lived experience and outcomes of students in primary, secondary and tertiary education; education e.g. effective pedagogies in low resource settings; nutrition e.g. the effects of protein, energy or micronutrient malnutrition on learning; linguistics e.g. challenges in teaching literacy skills in tonal languages; public health e.g. relationship between access to menstrual sanitation in schools and girls' school attendance; the efficacy of public education campaigns concerning female genital cutting; anthropology e.g. Indigenous concepts about learning and knowledge. In addition, regardless of their discipline, we welcome submissions concerning formal or informal education in, but not limited to, special populations e.g. retraining programs for former child soldiers; informal learning by children of sex workers and street involved children; parenting classes to support the development of children affected by tropical diseases such as Zika virus and cerebral malaria; cultural issues e.g. interventions to improve educational equity for students from low castes; the relationship between child marriage and educational equity for girls. Due to the nature of this collection, the Topic Editors are requesting that one author of each paper is a resident in a low or middle income country.

Types of manuscripts: Original quantitative and qualitative empirical research; Narrative and meta-analytic systematic reviews; Evaluations of the implementation or effectiveness of interventions or policies; Development of culturally and contextually appropriate measures and research methods.

Implementation of the Small-Scale Fisheries Guidelines

Julia Nakamura, Ratana Chuenpagdee, Svein Jentoft, 2024-05-13

This book provides a transdisciplinary assessment of multiple countries' legal and policy frameworks vis-à-vis the Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small Scale Fisheries in the Context of Food Security and Poverty Eradication adopted in 2014 by the Committee on Fisheries of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Based on an appraisal framework used to facilitate the unpacking of those frameworks, this book collects country experiences and regional perspectives on a range of cross-cutting issues underpinning the protection of the rights and the promotion of justice for small scale fishers and their communities. This book aims to be the first collection to present a systematic and in-depth assessment of existing national legal and policy frameworks vis-à-vis the SSF Guidelines. This assessment is done through the transdisciplinary and collaborative work of researchers, governments and civil society organizations for the analysis of the cross-thematic questions which the contributors of this book aim to address.

Firstly, what are the relevant laws and policies that matter for securing rights of small scale fishers and their communities? How are small scale fisheries defined by national laws and policies? How are small scale fisheries treated, i.e. specifically or generally, in these instruments? Are there specific provisions and references to small scale fisheries or any of its associated terminologies e.g. artisanal, subsistence, traditional, indigenous? Secondly, how do the relevant instruments address the 8 small scale fisheries key issues outlined in that rapid appraisal study? What are the strengths and gaps in these instruments? Do they address issues that are not covered by the SSF Guidelines? Do they contribute to clarifying other legal issues that are relevant for sustainable small scale fisheries? Finally, since the book also aims to explore the accessibility of these legal and policy instruments for those to which they matter the most the small scale fishers the following questions were also considered What challenges do they face in knowing and understanding the relevant laws and policies in place Which tools measures and processes are available in the countries to ensure small scale fishers can claim for their rights To what extent judicial courts have recognized and or granted rights to small scale fishers Chapters 11 19 and 20 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com Paper ,1979 Managerial Accounting Jerry J.
