Plotting Justice Georgiana Banita, 2012-10-01 Have the terrorist attacks of September 11 shifted the moral coordinates of contemporary fiction And how might such a shift reflected in narrative strategies and forms relate to other themes and trends emerging with the globalization of literature This book pursues these questions through works written in the wake of 9 11 and examines the complex intersection of ethics and narrative that has defined a significant portion of British and American fiction over the past decade Don DeLillo Pat Barker Aleksandar Hemon Lorraine Adams Michael Cunningham and Patrick McGrath are among the authors Georgiana Banita considers Their work illustrates how post 9 11 literature expresses an ethics of equivocation in formal elements of narrative in a complex scrutiny of justice and in tense dialogues linking this fiction with the larger political landscape of the era Through a broad historical and cultural lens Plotting Justice reveals links between the narrative ethics of post 9 11 fiction and events preceding and following the terrorist attacks events that defined the last half of the twentieth century from the Holocaust to the Balkan War and those that 9 11 precipitated from war in Afghanistan to the Abu Ghraib scandal Challenging the rhetoric of the war on terror the book honors the capacity of literature to articulate ambiguous forms of resistance in ways that reconfigure the imperatives and responsibilities of narrative for the twenty first century Remigration to Post-Socialist Europe Caroline Hornstein Tomic, Robert Pichler, Sarah Scholl-Schneider, 2018 Returning migrants have been involved in post socialist transformation processes all across Eastern and Southeastern Europe Engaged in politics the economy science and education arts and civil society return migrants have often exerted crucial influence on state and nation building processes and on social and cultural transformations However remigration not only comprises stories of achievements but equally those of failed integration marginalization non participation and lost potential these are mostly stories untold The contributions to this volume shed light on processes of return migration to various Eastern and Southeastern European countries from multidisciplinary perspectives Particular attention is paid to anthropological approaches that aim to understand the complexities of return migration from individual perspectives The Missouri Review, 2008 Lazarus Project. Hebrew Aleksandar Hemon, 2008 In The Lazarus Project his most ambitious and imaginative work yet Hemon brings to life an epic narrative born from a historical event the 1908 killing of Lazarus Averbuch a 19 year old Jewish immigrant who was shot dead by George Shippy the chief of Chicago police after being admitted into his home to deliver an important letter The mystery of what really happened that day remains unsolved Shippy claimed Averbuch was an anarchist with ill intent and from this opening set piece Hemon springs a century ahead to tell the story of Vladimir Brik a Bosnian American writer living in Chicago who gets funding to travel to Eastern Europe and unearth what really happened The Lazarus Project deftly weaves the two stories together cross cutting the aftermath of Lazarus s death with Brik s journey and the tales from his traveling partner Rora a Bosnian war photographer My Prisoner Aleksandar Hemon, 2015-04-07 When Aleksandar Hemon and Velibor Bo ovic became friends as teenagers in Sarajevo it was in Hemon s words pretty clear that our friendship was for life even if we could have no notion of what lay ahead of us In the coming years it became clear that their future was going to be entirely unlike anything they might have imagined Their beloved city was ripped to shreds by ethnic violence its citizens suffering the longest siege in the history of modern warfare Hemon was trapped abroad in Chicago when the siege began and unable to return home he watched in despair alone and helpless as the war unfolded in headlines and TV dispatches Bo ovic meanwhile was trapped in Sarajevo with his family As the conflict accelerated he was conscripted into the Bosnian Army even as his father who had served in the Yugoslav People s Army since long before their country split apart was being held in a Bosnian POW camp In his essay My Prisoner Hemon tells Bo ovic s story of life in Sarajevo during the siege His account revolves around one particular incident in the middle of the war when Bo ovic was offered the chance to visit his father in the POW camp though not of course without an onerous quid pro quo Almost twenty years later in 2012 Hemon and Bo ovic are still friends for life Hemon is now a writer in Chicago Bo ovic is a photographer in Montreal Hemon has traveled to Canada with his daughter to see his friend's art installation My Prisoner about that wartime reunion with his father In this special ebook edition both versions of My Prisoner are presented together The result is a unique and extraordinary literary and artistic experience Note Hemon's essay appears in the Picador paperback and ebook editions of The Book of My Lives Boovic's My Prisoner appears only in this enhanced ebook
