The Nature and Direction of Learning William Henry Burton,1929 As the title indicates a considerable portion of this book is devoted to a consideration of the learning process It is a text that deals more with the theory of method than with the details of classroom procedure The treatment of the direction of learning occupies nearly three fourths of the book and covers the topics commonly discussed by writers in this field Interestingly the author divides this book into five units each of which is subdivided into several problems The typical treatment of a problem includes four phases 1 exploratory and pretest questions 2 a discussion of the problem 3 discussion questions for summarizing and testing and 4 a list of parallel readings The exploratory and pretest questions a distinctive characteristic of this volume are ingenious and serve to stimulate thinking about the problems considered This book with its treatment of methods of teaching should be a highly effective instrument for use in the professional training of teachers Progressive Teaching Arthur Gordon Melvin,1929 Proceedings ... Michigan Schoolmasters' Club,1929 Assessing Students with Special Needs James A. McLoughlin,Rena B. Lewis,2008 This comprehensive text for future teachers of learners with disabilities is grounded in the idea that assessment is at the center of all good teaching Its hallmarks are its accessibility balanced coverage of both this formal and informal assessment plus thorough exploration of the link between gathering information and actually using it to make informed decisions Offering a step by step Assessment Question Model on the inside front cover it equips readers to understand the complete assessment process from choosing the best tool to adapting instruction to improving outcomes Popular as well as lesser known tools are examined in order to acquaint readers with promising procedures for assessing students with special needs
