Reinventing Yourself Dick Sutphen, Richard Sutphen, 1993 Reinventing Yourself Steve Chandler, 2005-01-01

Whether you're self-employed a middle manager or a Fortune 500 executive it's easy to get stuck in a humdrum life and only fantasize about what could have been. Motivational speaker Steve Chandler helps you transform what could have been into what will be. You'll learn numerous techniques for breaking down negative barriers and letting go of pessimistic thoughts that prevent you from fulfilling or even allowing yourself to conceive of your goals and dreams. Drawing on many years of work in the field since the original publication of the book, Chandler has added numerous new stories, quotes, insights, and recommendations on how to reinvent yourself from the fictional, limited personality of old to a fresh level of creative action.

On Becoming an Artist Ellen J. Langer, 2006-03-28 All it takes to become an artist is to start doing art from On Becoming an Artist On Becoming an Artist is loaded with good news Backed by her landmark scientific work on mindfulness and artistic nature bestselling author and Harvard psychologist Ellen J Langer shows us that creativity is not a rare gift that only some special few are born with but rather an integral part of everyone's makeup All of us can express our creative impulses authentically and uniquely and in the process enrich our lives Why then do so many of us merely dream of someday painting someday writing someday making music Why do we think the same old thoughts harbor the same old prejudices stay stuck in the same old mud Who taught us to think inside the box No one is more qualified to answer these questions than Dr Langer who has explored their every facet for years She describes dozens of fascinating experiments her own and those of her colleagues that are designed to study mindfulness and its relation to human creativity and she shares the profound implications of the results for our well being health and happiness Langer reveals myriad insights among them We think we should already know what only firsthand experience can teach us In learning the ways that all roses are alike we risk becoming blind to their differences If we are mindfully creative the circumstances of the moment will tell us what to do

Those of us who are less evaluatively inclined experience less guilt less regret less blame and tend to like ourselves more Uncertainty gives us the freedom to discover meaning Finally what we think we re sure of may not even exist With the skill of a gifted logician Langer demonstrates exactly how we undervalue ourselves and undermine our creativity By example she persuades us to have faith in our creative works not because someone else approves of them but because they re a true expression of ourselves Her high spirited challenging book sparkles with wit and intelligence and inspires in us an infectious
