Defining and Defending the Open Door Policy Gregory Moore,2015-05-27 There has been little examination of the China policy of the Theodore Roosevelt administration Works dealing with the topic fall either into brief discussions in biographies of Roosevelt general surveys of Sino American relations or studies of special topics such as the Chinese exclusion issue which encompass a portion of the Roosevelt years Moreover the subject has been overshadowed somewhat by studies of problems between Japan and the United States in this era The goal of this study is to offer a more complete examination of the American relationship with China during Roosevelt's presidency The focus will be on the discussion of major issues and concerns in the relationship of the two nations from the time Roosevelt took office until he left something that this book does for the first time Greater emphasis needs to be placed on creating a more complete picture of Teddy Roosevelt and China relations especially in regard to his and his advisers perceptual framework of that region and its impact upon the making of China policy The goal of this study is to begin that process Special attention is paid to the question of how Roosevelt and the members of his administration viewed China as it is believed that their viewpoints which were prejudicial were very instrumental in how they chose to deal with China and the question of the Open Door The emphasis on the role of stereotyping gives the book a particularly unique point of view Readers will be made aware of the difficulties of making foreign policy under challenging conditions but also of how the attitudes and perceptions of policymakers can shape the direction that those policies can take A critical argument of the book is that a stereotyped perception of China and its people inhibited American policy responses toward the Chinese state in Roosevelt's Administration While Roosevelt's attitudes regarding white supremacy have been discussed elsewhere a fuller consideration of how his views affected the making of foreign policy particularly China policy is needed especially now that Sino American relations today are of great concern

The Statesman's Yearbook 2026 Springer Nature Limited, The Statesman's Year-book, 1925 War in Modern China Harold M Tanner, 2025-09-30 This book offers comprehensive coverage of China's military history from the Qing dynasty 1644 1912 to present China has become one of the great world powers of the twenty first century As a result Chinese leaders and observers outside of China alike seek to explain China's strategic thought and action In doing so they routinely refer to China's military history This volume examines this history beginning with the Qing dynasty's era of imperial expansion and subsequent decline continuing with the wars against foreign aggression and internal uprisings of the nineteenth century the revolutionary overthrow of the Qing in 1911 and seemingly constant wars of the first half of the twentieth century and concluding with the Chinese Communist Party's use of military power from 1950 to present This history is generally presented as a narrative of imperial greatness followed by a century of national humiliation followed by a recovery of national wealth and power under Communist Party leadership While acknowledging this narrative Harold Tanner digs deeper to reveal a fundamental continuity of interests underlying Chinese strategic thinking from the Qing to the present while also showing how the theory and practice of war in China changed over time as Chinese political and military leaders wrestled with tremendous challenges drawing on foreign sources as well as their own cultural heritage to seek new solutions Both engaging and timely War in Modern China A Military History is essential reading for students scholars and enthusiasts of Chinese and global military history Redefining Nationalism in Modern China S. Shen, 2007-11-13 Why do the Chinese sometimes speak out against U S and yet at other times remain silent This book uses a variety of previously untapped sources including a range of news sources within China itself weblogs and interviews with prominent figures to make a powerful new argument about the causes and consequences of the new Chinese nationalism China Research Monographs, 1967 The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books 1976 to 1982 British Library, 1983

World History in Brief Peter N. Stearns, 2007 With its brief global rather than West centered approach World History in Brief Sixth Edition seeks to show how different civilizations developed in a global context Rather than overwhelm students the chief goal of World History in Brief is to present the big picture to facilitate comparison and assessment of change and to highlight the major developments in the world's history. This text also emphasizes the global interactions of major civilizations so that students can compare and assess changes in the patterns of interaction and the impact of global forces such as migration and technology exchange. The compact size of this text gives instructors the opportunity to take advantage of additional supplementary readings.

The Emergence of Constitutional Government in China (1905-1908) Norbert Meienberger, 1980. The purpose of this study is to describe and to analyze the steps taken by the Chinese government before the convening of the provincial assemblies in 1909 in order to gain insight into the court's own understanding of constitutional government. It tries to explain why the Chinese court decided to adopt a constitutional form of government and what the architects of the new order were aiming at. In reviewing the beginnings of constitutional preparation, the author discovered that the concept sanctioned by the Chinese court reflected the wish to preserve the Confucian tradition and the intention to keep the Dynasty in power. In his opinion, the Chinese government tried to solve a host of problems in all earnestness; the reproach of insincerity seems invalid; the accusation of procrastination unfounded. □□□□, 1992.

The Rise of Modern China Immanuel Chung-yueh Hsü, 1973. THE JOURNAL OF ASIAN STUDIES VOL. 55 NO. 2, 1996.

Negotiated Power in Late Imperial China Jennifer M. Rudolph, 2008. Negotiated Power in Late Imperial China: The Zongli Yamen and the Politics of Reform explores the nature and functioning of reform during the nineteenth century of China's Qing dynasty (1644-1911). By analyzing the bureaucratic modes of management that developed around the creation and evolution of the Zongli Yamen or Foreign Office (1861-1901), the book demonstrates the vitality of not only the Chinese State but also the institutional traditions of its Manchu rulers. Drawing on precedent and the flexibility of the administrative system in their efforts to manage the conduct of foreign affairs, high Qing ministers transformed opportunities for institutional dynamism into the reality of a functioning central Zongli Yamen with a foreign affairs field administration supporting it in the provinces. In the process, they altered the governmental hierarchy and changed the definition of institutional power in the multi-faceted area of foreign affairs and more generally for the Qing bureaucracy. As the most significant example of institutional development in China's critical period of the nineteenth century, the Zongli Yamen's experience serves as a valuable background for understanding reform efforts in late imperial China and beyond. Books in Print, 1982.

The Collins History of the World in the Twentieth Century John Ashley Soames Grenville, 1994. The 20th century is the century of communism and fascism, of debt and prosperity of the United Nations and nationalistic fervour of mass demonstrations and individual defiance, and also of the aircraft and the submarine, of the conveyor belt and the computer, of miracle cures and new diseases and of radio and television.
