

i will tell you, my daughter
of your worth
not your beauty
every day. (your beauty is a given. every being is born beautiful).
knowing your worth
can save your life.
raising you on beauty alone
you will be starved.
you will be raw.
you will be weak.
an easy stomach.
always in need of someone telling you how beautiful you are.

Camille Sapara Barton is a gift to all of us This is what emergent strategy looks like at the precipice adrienne maree brown author of Pleasure Activism An embodied guide to being with grief individually and in community practical exercises decolonized rituals and Earth based medicines for healing and processing loss We live in a culture that suppresses our ability to truly feel our grief deeply safely and on our own terms But each person's experience is as unique as the grief itself Here Camille Sapara Barton's take on grief speaks directly to the ways that BIPOC and queer readers disproportionately experience unique constellations of loss Deeply practical and easy to use in times of confusion trauma and pain Tending Grief includes rituals reflection prompts and exercises that help us process and metabolize our grief without bypassing or pushing aside what comes to the fore Sapara Barton includes exercises that can be done both alone and in community including Altar practices to honor and connect with ancestors known and unknown Locating holding and dancing your grief Sharing circles for processing communal loss Water fire and nature based rituals Honoring the survival utility of numbness and knowing when it's time to release it Peer support and integration Herbal medicines and plant based healing Sapara Barton honors each and every experience The loss of displacement from homelands from severed lineages and ancestral ways of knowing The grief of colonization and theft The deep heaviness that burrows into our bodies when society tells us our bodies are wrong Practical tools and rituals help readers feel into their grief honor what comes up and move forward in healing Written specifically to center and hold the grief of BIPOC readers Tending Grief is an invitation to reconnect to what we've lost to find community in our grief and to tend to our own suffering for our individual and collective wellbeing
