Intercultural Families and Schooling in Japan: Experiences, Issues, and Challenges , 2020-09-01 The purpose of this book is to show how research on families can be used to offer inspiration suggestions and guidance to intercultural families choosing to school their children in the regular Japanese school system Each chapter is written by a parent or parents who are themselves researchers and thus bring their skills to the task of writing about issues which have affected their families and are likely to affect other families in similar ways There are also suggestions for other non Japanese parents coping with similar issues The book is divided into three sections The first Finding our own way deals with children's and parents' struggles with identity and inclusion in Japanese schools and society. The second, Dealing with the Japanese school system, offers narratives and advice on such topics as coping with homework and dealing with more than one school system as well as what government accredited Japanese overseas schools have to offer. The third section, Coping with challenges, examines the experiences of families where children are different because they have physical or intellectual challenges or live with foster or adoptive families. The book concludes with a narrative about a family who made the decision to remove their children from the Japanese system entirely and send them abroad for schooling. The authors of the chapters in this book are all current or former university faculty living in different areas of Japan. Some who live in highly populated urban areas have had ample opportunities to locate educational options for their children while others living in rural communities have had to struggle to advocate for their children's inclusion in mainstream classes. Their stories are all compelling and their advice is certain to be helpful to those planning to or already raising children in Japan. This book will also be of value to researchers and educators particularly those with an interest in bilingualism, intercultural families and cross cultural issues along with anyone wishing to learn more about contemporary Japanese society.

Whether your child is going to a private kindergarten or a public school, he or she will most likely be tested and placed in classrooms according to those results. But information about intelligence tests is closely guarded and it can be difficult to understand what your kids need to know. As an expert who has successfully taught hundreds of parents how to work with their own children, Karen Quinn has written the ultimate guide to preparing your child for kindergarten testing. The activities she suggests are not about teaching to the test. They are about having fun while teaching to the underlying abilities every test assesses. From the right way to have a conversation to natural ways to bring out your child's inner math geek, Quinn shares the techniques that every parent can do with their kids to give them the best chance to succeed in school and

Historically overlooked, shadow education has a significant influence on student achievement, learning culture, and the future of education worldwide. Drawing upon detailed studies from South Korea and beyond, the authors highlight how shadow education transforms traditional learning landscapes, offering innovative strategies like personalized learning, accelerated instruction, and mastery-based curricula that can inform and improve mainstream educational practices. Targeted at educators, policymakers, curriculum theorists, and learning researchers, the book provides fresh theoretical insights and practical recommendations, emphasizing the need for new frameworks to understand learning beyond formal school boundaries. Accessible yet scholarly, this work is essential for anyone interested in educational innovation, equity, and global learning trends, offering critical guidance for enhancing learning quality in diverse settings worldwide. Hyper Education Pawan Dhingra, 2020-04-28 An up-close look at the education arms race of after-school learning, academic competitions, and the perceived failure of even our best schools to educate children. Beyond soccer leagues, music camps, and drama lessons, today's youth are in an education arms race that begins in elementary school. In Hyper Education, Pawan Dhingra uncovers the growing world of high-achievement education and the after-school learning centers, spelling bees, and math competitions that it has spawned. It is a world where immigrant families vie with other Americans to be at the head of the class, putting in hours of studying and testing in order to gain a foothold in the supposed meritocracy of American public education. A world where enrichment centers like Kumon have seen 194 percent growth since 2002 and target children as young as three. Even families and teachers who avoid after-school academics are getting swept up. Drawing on over 100 in-depth interviews with teachers, tutors, principals, children, and parents, Dhingra delves into the why people participate in this phenomenon and examines how schools, families, and communities play their part. Moving past Tiger Mom stereotypes, he addresses why Asian American and white families practice what he calls hyper education and whether or not it makes sense. By taking a behind-the-scenes look at the Scripps National Spelling Bee, other national competitions, and learning centers, Dhingra shows why good schools, good grades, and good behavior are seen as not enough for high-achieving students and their parents, and why the education arms race is likely to continue to expand.
