Vernacular Encounters Nishat Zaidi, Kashish Dua, 2025-12-29 This book offers new insights into the debates of vernacularity language ideologies and the decolonial turn It identifies vernacular encounters as nuanced interactions of languages that are often termed as local with culture and power across varied media and temporalities Drawing from rich literary and cultural productions across various geopolitical contexts the book reveals how vernacular expressions serve as powerful vehicles for political negotiation and cultural transformation It explores how vernacular encounters actively challenge power structures at various levels by asserting their own cultural authority thereby creating spaces for alternative perspectives within dominant discourse and challenging hegemonic forces It also illuminates the role of language as more than just a communication tool arguing that it also functions as a vital marker of identity and cultural continuity that actively resists homogenization and erasure This resistance in the case of the vernacular languages of India challenges both colonial and global hegemonic forces and sets the tone for affirming diverse cultural narratives The volume offers a historically grounded analysis that traces the resilience adaptation and negotiations of vernacular languages across changing socio political landscapes This book will be of interest to students and researchers of language literature linguistics literary and cultural studies Indian literature translation studies and to those with an interest in South Asian history culture politics and society

Groundwater Law and Management in India Sarfaraz Ahmed Khan, Tony George Puthucherril, Sanu Rani Paul, 2021-07-23 This book presents a comprehensive analysis of the existing nature of India s groundwater laws In the backdrop of the gravity of groundwater crisis that threatens to engulf the country the book examines the correlation between the imperfections in the law and water crisis and advocates a reform agenda to overhaul the legal framework It accomplishes this objective by examining how some of the States and Union Territories regulate and manage groundwater through the legal instrumentality against the backdrop of the two conflicting paradigms the elitist and the egalitarian The book s fundamental premise is that despite being an extraordinarily critical resource that supports India s burgeoning population s ever increasing water demands groundwater is abused and mismanaged The key argument that it posits is that the elitist paradigm must give way to an egalitarian one where groundwater is treated as a common property resource To place this message in perspective the book s introduction explains the dichotomy between the two paradigms in the context of groundwater This sets the stage after which the book is divided thematically into three parts The first part deals with some of the general groundwater management concerns brought to the fore by the operation of the elitist paradigm Since water is constitutionally a State subject the second part analyses the groundwater legislations of different States and Union Territories set against their unique circumstances As these laws do not dismantle the elitist paradigm that interlocks groundwater rights to land rights the next part articulates the legal reform agenda where a case is made to re engineer groundwater laws to reflect a more sustainable basis The findings and arguments resonate with the situation in many developing countries around the world due to which the book is a valuable resource for researchers across disciplines studying this area and also for policy makers think tanks and NGOs

Society,2006 Bridging the Gap? Helen Sarah Lund,1998 This study examined the extent to which e mail and Internet access is available within universities in developing countries in the British Commonwealth Data were gathered using a survey of 300 institutions in developing Commonwealth countries and responses by 112 institutions in 19 countries were evaluated The study concluded that a major gulf exists between developed and developing countries in communications technologies and that a significant injection of funds will be needed if this is to be bridged Overall the study found Internet access has been achieved at some level in about a quarter of accredited university level institutions while e mail access has reached about 45 percent of institutions Generally Internet access is more widespread in Asia the Caribbean and the Asian Pacific region than in Africa The majority of higher education institutions surveyed had achieved connectivity only within the last three years More than 50 percent of respondents relied on analogue dial up access via a modem and almost half the institutions relied on common terminals in some cases only one to provide Internet and e mail for the whole university community Appendices include the questionnaire used a list of World Wide Web addresses and a list of e mail addresses
