Port,2007 Port describes both the nature and process of protecting appellations of source in Japan and provides normative commentary on this protection By focusing on the Japanese judiciary s interpretation of two statutes he Trademark Law and the Unfair Competition Prevention Act some important lessons are learned First the Japanese judiciary treats trademark owners both foreign and domestic paternalistically Japanese courts go to great extremes to avoid harsh results that seem possible under a strict reading of these two statutes Second Japanese trademark owners are extremely rights conscious and pursue litigation to the fullest in order to drive up the cost of market access by competitors Third the Japanese trademark right operates more like a true property right than it does in America This has broad ramifications as judges treat the right with far more deference

than their American counterparts
