Delamont,1992-01 Delamont s theme is that researchers should be motivated like pilgrims by lust of knowing Just discovering things is not enough the findings must be written up and eventually sold to an audience Flecker s caravan also contained poets who sing to find your hearts and merchants carrying trade goods as well as being driven by that lust of knowing This book is designed to encourage researchers to seek the truth tell it eloquently and find an audience to buy it Most books emphasize the search for truth and neglect the reporting and marketing of the findings This one demands that the investigator should be poet pilgrim and merchant

Sikes,2001-09 It has long been recognised that life history method has a great deal to offer to those engaged in social research Indeed right from the start of the twentieth century eminent sociologists such as W I Thomas C Wright Mills and Herbert Blumer have suggested that it is the best the perfect approach for studying any aspect of social life In recent years life history has become increasingly popular with researchers investigating educational topics of all kinds including teachers perceptions and experiences of different areas of their lives and careers curriculum and subject development pedagogical practice and managerial concerns Life History Research in Educational Settings sets out to explore and consider the various reasons for this popularity and makes the case that the approach has a major and unique contribution to make to understandings of schools schooling and educational experience however characterised The book draws extensively on examples of life history research in order to illustrate theoretical methodological ethical and practical issues

Doing Qualitative Educational Research Geoffrey Walford,2001 Reflecting the trials and tribulations and the problems and promises of conducting research this guide reveals the research process as a much more complex process than is usually recognised often messy and disorganised

Doing Qualitative Research Wolff-Michael Roth,2005-01-01 The author takes readers on a journey of a large number of issues in designing actual studies of knowing and learning in the classroom exploring actual data and putting readers face to face with problems that he actually or possibly encountered and what he has done or possibly could have done The reader subsequently sees the results of data collection in the different analyses provided The author shows how one writes very different studies using the same data sources but very different theoretical assumptions and analytic technique The author brings his publication experience in very different disciplines into play to provide readers with way of experiencing research as praxis The book is organized around six major themes sections in the course of which it develops the practical problems an educational researcher might face in a large variety of settings The book was written to be used by upper undergraduate and graduate students taking courses in research design and professors who want to have a reference on design and methodology

Policy Research in Educational Settings Jenny Ozga,1999-11-16 This book argues for independent critical research on education policy in the context of attacks on the quality and usefulness of educational research in general It takes issue with the argument promoted by government departments and agencies that education policy research should be limited to work that assists policy makers Against this position the book advocates independent critical research that scrutinizes policy in relation to its consequences for equality and social justice It argues that practitioners and academic researchers should form a research community that develops its own knowledge base from which so called evidence based policymaking in education may be assessed and challenged The book offers guidance on the theoretical and methodological resources available to practitioners and others with an interest in doing research on policy and discusses some of the main issues and problems in doing policy research on education It offers examples of research on policy at different system levels pursuing themes such as globalization changing governance of education selection choice and exclusion managerialism and the feminisation of educational management It argues for attention to the history of policy in education as a resource for understanding the present and concludes with recommendations for future research in areas where contestation of official agendas is needed

Narratives and Fictions in Educational Research Peter Clough,2002 This book considers the role and use of literary and ethnographic approaches in educational research

Proceedings of the Conference on Teacher Education for Sustainable Development in Ethiopia ,2007

The Moral Foundations of Educational Research Patricia J. Sikes,Jon Nixon,Wilfred Carr,2003 This title considers what is distinctive about educational research in comparison with other research in the social sciences As the contributors all agree that education is always an essentially moral enterprise discussion about methodology starts not with the widely endorsed claim that educational research should be useful and relevant but with the attempt to justify and elaborate that claim with reference to its moral foundations Determining the nature of usefulness and relevance is not simply a matter of focussing on impact and influence but involves a radical re conceptualisation of the moral and educational significance of what is deemed to be useful and relevant There is no argument with this emphasis on the generation of useful and relevant knowledge but it is suggested that educational research requires a fuller and more rounded understanding that takes account of the moral values of those who conduct it Educational research is grounded epistemologically in the moral foundations of educational practice It is the epistemological and moral purposes underlying the usefulness and relevance of educational research that matter
