2030 Mauro F. Guillén, 2020-08-25 AN INTERNATIONAL BESTSELLER Wall Street Journal Bestseller A Porchlight Book Bestseller Financial Times Best Books of 2020 Yahoo Finance Favorite Business Books of 2020 JP Morgan NextList 2021 selection Bold provocative illuminates why we're having fewer babies the middle class is stagnating unemployment is shifting and new powers are rising ADAM GRANT The world is changing drastically before our eyes will you be prepared for what comes next A groundbreaking analysis from one of the world's foremost experts on global trends including analysis on how COVID 19 will amplify and accelerate each of these changes Once upon a time the world was neatly divided into prosperous and backward economies Babies were plentiful workers outnumbered retirees and people aspiring towards the middle class yearned to own homes and cars Companies didn't need to see any further than Europe and the United States to do well Printed money was legal tender for all debts public and private We grew up learning how to play the game and we expected the rules to remain the same as we took our first job started a family saw our children grow up and went into retirement with our finances secure That world and those rules are over By 2030 a new reality will take hold and before you know it There will be more grandparents than grandchildren The middle class in Asia and Sub-Saharan Africa will outnumber the US and Europe combined The global economy will be driven by the non-Western consumer for the first time in modern history There will be more global wealth owned by women than men There will be more robots than workers There will be more computers than human brains There will be more currencies

than countries All these trends currently underway will converge in the year 2030 and change everything you know about culture the economy and the world According to Mauro F Guillen the only way to truly understand the global transformations underway and their impacts is to think laterally That is using peripheral vision or approaching problems creatively and from unorthodox points of view Rather than focusing on a single trend climate change or the rise of illiberal regimes for example Guillen encourages us to consider the dynamic inter play between a range of forces that will converge on a single tipping point 2030 that will be for better or worse the point of no return 2030 is both a remarkable guide to the coming changes and an exercise in the power of lateral thinking thereby revolutionizing the way you think about cataclysmic change and its consequences Admap,2010 Sensing Machines Chris Salter,2022-04-19 How we are tracked surveilled tantalized and seduced by machines ranging from smart watches and Roombas to immersive art installations Sensing machines are everywhere in our world As we move through the day electronic sensors and computers adjust our thermostats guide our Roombas count our steps change the orientation of an image when we rotate our phones There are more of these electronic devices in the world than there are people in 2020 thirty to fifty billion of them versus 7.8 billion people with more than a trillion expected in the next decade In Sensing Machines Chris Salter examines how we are tracked surveilled tantalized and seduced by machines ranging from smart watches and mood trackers to massive immersive art installations Salter an artist scholar who has worked with sensors and computers for more than twenty years explains that the quantification of bodies senses and experience did not begin with the surveillance capitalism practiced by Facebook Amazon Netflix and Google but can be traced back to mathematical and statistical techniques of the nineteenth century He describes the emergence of the sensed self investigating how sensor technology has been deployed in music and gaming programmable and immersive art environments driving and even eating with e tongues and e noses that can taste and smell for us Sensing technology turns our experience into data but Salter's story isn't just about what these machines want from us but what we want from them new sensations the thrill of the uncanny and magic that will transport us from our daily grind The People's Platform Astra Taylor,2014-04-15 An invaluable primer for anyone seeking to understand why our networked world isn't all that it is cracked up to be The Guardian The Internet has been hailed as an unprecedented democratizing force a place where everyone can be heard and all can participate equally But how true is this claim In a seminal dismantling of techno utopian visions The People's Platform argues that for all that we tweet and like and share the Internet in fact reflects and amplifies real world inequities at least as much as it ameliorates them Online just as off line attention and influence largely accrue to those who already have plenty of both What we have seen so far Astra Taylor says has been not a revolution but a rearrangement Although Silicon Valley tycoons have eclipsed Hollywood moguls a handful of giants like Amazon Apple Google and Facebook remain the gatekeepers And the worst habits of the old media model the pressure to seek easy celebrity to be quick and sensational above all have proliferated on the web where aggregating the work of others is the surest way to attract eyeballs and ad revenue When culture is free creative work has diminishing value and advertising fuels the system The new order looks suspiciously like the old one We can do better Taylor insists The online world does offer a unique opportunity but a democratic culture that supports diverse voices and work of lasting value will not spring up from technology alone If we want the Internet to truly be a people s platform we will have to make it so Beautifully written and highly recommended David Byrne musician and author
