Cultural Intelligence (Youth, Family, and Culture) David A. Livermore,2009-02-01 Twenty first century society is diverse and Christians must be able to understand other cultures and communicate effectively between and among them Following up on the bestselling Hurt Inside the World of Today s Teenagers this new addition to the Youth Family and Culture series explores the much needed skill of Cultural Intelligence CQ the ability to work effectively across national ethnic and even organizational cultures While rooted in sound scholarly research Cultural Intelligence is highly practical and accessible to general readers It will benefit students as well as guide ministry leaders interested in increasing their cultural awareness and sensitivity Packed with assessment tools simulations case studies and exercises Cultural Intelligence will help transform individuals and organizations into effective intercultural communicators of the gospel

EXCERPT What do you do when you encounter someone who isn t like you How do you feel What goes on inside you How do you relate to him or her These are the kinds of questions we want to explore in this book Few things are more basic to life than expressing love and respect for people who look think believe act and see differently than we do We want to adapt to the barrage of cultures around us while still remaining true to ourselves We want to let the world change us so that we can be part of changing the world And we want to move from the desire to love across the chasm of cultural difference to the ability to express our love for people of difference Relating lovingly to our fellow human beings is central to what it means to be human And when it comes down to it

Christian ministry at its core is interacting with all kinds of people in ways that give them glimpses of Jesus in us. The billions of us sharing planet Earth together have so much in common. We're all born. We all die. We're all created in the image of God. We eat, sleep, persevere, and care for our young. We long for meaning and purpose, and we develop societies with those around us. But the way we go about the many things we have in common is deeply rooted in our unique personalities and cultures. So although we have so much in common, we have as much or more about us that's different.

A New Vision, a New Heart, a Renewed Call David Claydon, 2005

Rooted Banning Liebscher, 2016-05-03

You were born to make an impact in this world, and you know it. You feel it deep down in your bones. Apathy is your nemesis, and your hunger to change the world keeps you up at night. But no matter how deep this hunger grows, we can only make a meaningful impact if we are rooted in Jesus. And here's the thing: God is not interested in developing your vision first. He is interested in developing you. In Rooted, Banning Liebscher takes us to the life of David to show how God expands our root system in the hidden places before leading us to where we all desire to go: the visible world. It was in a field of prayerful devotion, a season of serving, and a cave of community that God prepared David for his crown; the same way God prepares us. Take a look at your own life: Are you embracing God's process, the sometimes painstaking and maddening process? When we can release ourselves to God, we will find that we can thrive while He develops us rather than succumb to discouragement. Whatever your age or season of life, it takes immense courage to slow down enough to let God grow a root system in your life so that you can bear fruit that remains. You are where you are because God has planted you there. Discover what it looks like to embrace His process so you can do what He has called you to: change the world.

Cultural Intelligence David A. Livermore, 2009-02

An intercultural ministry expert demonstrates the necessity of Cultural Intelligence for effectively serving an increasingly diverse church and world.

Reaching for the New Jerusalem Seong Hyun Park, Aída Besançon Spencer, William David Spencer, 2013-08-02

The task of this book is to examine the biblical and theological meaning of the city and our mission within it. It starts with the premise that the garden is lost, and we are headed toward the New Jerusalem, the city of God. In the meanwhile, we dwell in earthly cities that need to be adjusted to God's city. The fall has conditioned us to fear the city, though historically God intended it to provide safety, even refuge. We have to band together and act to take back our communities if we are to help God in the divine task of reconciling the world to Godself by assisting God in adjusting our communities to God's New Jerusalem, rebuilding our own cities of Enoch on the blueprints of Christ to go into all the world and share his good news, building the Christian community along the lines of the New Jerusalem, a city of light in which God is revealed.

Introduction by William David Spencer

Toward achieving this goal, this single accessible volume brings together the biblical, the systematic, and the practical aspects of urban ministry by various contributors who are urban practitioners and theologians themselves and have taught at Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary Boston Campus.
