Collaborations in Architecture and Sociology Anita Bakshi, Zaire Dinzey-Flores, 2026-03-25 This book by an architect and a sociologist addresses the disconnect between the design of the built environment and social life and lays out a pathway for interdisciplinary engagement Through this scholarly collaboration the authors create a new interdisciplinary orientation and methodology termed SOCIOARC that recognizes the relationship of the built form and aesthetics to social experience Shifting between the architectural and sociological imaginations it provides a strategy for rethinking the nature of the objectives of the research enterprise and the objects that designers create This approach opens up possibilities for design and sociology to together inform new and more just ways of making and occupying space The first part of the book examines the methodologies and conceptual lenses of architecture and sociology in parallel The authors then tether together complementary approaches to offer a new transdisciplinary practice for researching and designing the built environment A collection of tried and tested exercises is provided to enable students and practitioners to employ this approach in their work Accessibly written and illustrated this book will be an essential resource for undergraduate and graduate level students of sociology architecture urban design landscape architecture and planning and all those interested in shaping a more just equitable society through our built environment

Think Differently, Lead Differently J. R. Walton, A man in a black turtleneck walked on stage in 2007 and declared Today Apple is going to reinvent the phone and he did This book reveals how Steve Jobs repeatedly pulled off that kind of revolution not by luck or lone flashes of genius but through a disciplined set of principles for product design leadership and culture that can be learned adapted and used in any organization Instead of retelling the familiar garage to icon story this book breaks Jobs s approach down into clear actionable frameworks how to ruthlessly simplify obsess over hidden details integrate technology with human needs and build small exceptional teams that ship category defining products You will see exactly how Jobs thought about focus standards and innovation where he was brilliant where he was destructive and how to apply what worked without copying his worst behaviors Across eight parts you move from core product philosophy to design leadership innovation culture strategy and personal effectiveness with each chapter offering a principle real world Apple and Pixar case studies the deeper logic common pitfalls and step by step implementation methods Whether you are a founder manager executive or product creator you will come away with a practical playbook to think differently about what s possible build organizations that can consistently create exceptional products and lead in a way that pushes for excellence without sacrificing humanity
