

Federalist Paper Number 10

After the Convention in Philadelphia it was far from certain that the states would agree to and ratify this new Constitution. As state conventions convened to decide whether to accept it or not a fierce publicity campaign was waged by both supporters (Federalists) and detractors (Anti-federalists).

The Federalists had the advantage in leadership with the likes of George Washington and Ben Franklin, two of the most eminent men of their day. They also had the support of the ablest political philosophers of their time: Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, and John Jay. These three men under the pseudonym "Publius" wrote a series of essays explaining the meaning and virtues of the Constitution. The collected essays are known today as The Federalist Papers.

After reading Federalist Paper No. 10, answer the following questions in complete sentences.

1. What does Madison believe is the advantage of a "well-constructed Union"?

2. How are conflicts too often decided in unstable governments? Whose rights are denied when this happens?

3. What are two ways in which Madison believes factions can be dealt with?

4. Describe his argument for liberty. What metaphor does he employ?

5. What is the "first object of Government"?

6. Does Madison believe that Man is inherently good or evil? How does this affect his belief in the role of government?

7. What does Madison say about factions' causes and effects?

8. Why have Democracies failed according to Madison?

9. What form of government promises the cure?
