Continuous Cover Forestry Timo Pukkala, Klaus Gadow, 2011-10-14 Although the majority of the world's forest ecosystems are dominated by uneven sized multi species stands forest management practice and theory has focused on the development of plantation monocultures to maximize the supply of timber at low cost Societal expectations are changing however and uneven aged multi species ecosystems selectively managed as Continuous Cover Forestry CCF are often believed to be superior to monocultures in addressing a wide range of expectations This book presents methods which are relevant to CCF management and planning analysing forest structures silvicultural and planning economic evaluation based on examples in Europe Asia Africa and North and South America

Sampling Methods, Remote Sensing and GIS Multiresource Forest Inventory Michael Köhl, Steen S. Magnussen, Marco Marchetti, 2006-10-19 When we talk about forests we talk about 30% of our planet's land surface 6 area In 2000 there was an estimated 3 870 10 ha of forest worldwide of which 1 5% is in forest plantations and 95% in natural forests FAO 2003 Forests are not only a source for timber they also generate significant nonwood goods and services mitigate climate change conserve biological diversity provide protection from natural hazards and not least provide recreational areas for an increasingly urbanized world population The availability of timber and non wood goods and services is waning as deforestation and degradation of tropical forests continue While forest area has stabilized or is slightly increasing in the boreal and temperate regions the annual loss of forest area in the tropics and subtropics is decreasing Between 1990 and 2000 the annual rate of deforestation was estimated to be 14 6 10 ha approximately 0 38% and took place mainly in tropical and subtropical forests FAO 2003 The net annual rate of change is about 9 4 10 ha 0 2% Maintaining and enhancing forest areas and the vitality of forest ecosystems is a widely accepted political goal which is often opposed by conflicting demands of various stakeholders

Quantity and Quality in Forest Research, 1991 Sustainable Forest Management Hubert Hasenauer, 2006-03-29 There is a strong movement towards uneven aged forest management based on the idea that such stands increase or at least maintain soil fertility increase biodiversity and improve stand resilience This shift in forest management practice renders existing yield tables increasingly unreliable Among potential alternatives are tree growth models because they predict the growth of each tree within a forest stand This book summarizes three years of work related to the topic carried out as a joint effort of leading tree growth modellers across Europe together with forest companies By means of nine specific examples it demonstrates the problem solving potential of tree growth modeling theory as required by various end user groups Forest Science, 2014 Forest Resource Economics And Policy Research Paul V.
