

AP Biology - Chapter 3 Cellular Respiration Assignment

- What is the relationship between anaerobic and aerobic biology?
 Anaerobic means "without oxygen" and aerobic means "with oxygen". Aerobic respiration is the process of producing energy by breaking down glucose in the presence of oxygen. Anaerobic respiration is the process of producing energy by breaking down glucose without the presence of oxygen.
- What does an electron transport chain and what is the difference between a lowering and maximum electron potential?
 The electron transport chain is a series of protein complexes in the mitochondrial membrane that transfer electrons from one molecule to another, creating a proton gradient. The difference between a lowering and maximum electron potential is the difference in energy between the two states of the electron.
- Describe the process and purpose of cell respiration.
 Cell respiration is the process of breaking down glucose to produce energy. The purpose of cell respiration is to produce energy for the cell to use for various functions.
- Explain prokaryotic cell division - binary fission and budding.

- What is surface area to volume ratio and importance of it as it applies to the biological world?
 Surface area to volume ratio is the ratio of the surface area of an object to its volume. It is important because it affects the rate at which substances can enter and leave the cell.
