Data Privacy and Competition Law in the Age of Big Data Samson Y. Esayas, 2024-06-24 The monetization of personal data has become an increasingly common business practice igniting global debate on the interface between data privacy law and competition law Data Privacy and Competition Law in the Age of Big Data provides a comprehensive novel and interdisciplinary analysis of this nexus Drawing insights from emergent properties and complexity science the book exposes the commonalities and conflicts between how data privacy law and competition law address challenges resulting from the commercialization of personal data Samson Y Esayas begins by identifying key shifts in big data the growing trend of processing personal data for diverse purposes the aggregation of data across various operations and the shift from offering stand alone products and services to ecosystems of several with personal data central in connecting the different markets These shifts engender a complex economic landscape marked by multiple actors a web of interactions and non linear emergent outcomes Despite this complexity the prevailing approach to data privacy law and competition law emphasises isolated units of analysis whether a relevant market or a distinct processing operation This approach overlooks system wide emergent risks borne of cumulative processing operations and cross market practices Additionally a mindset focused on either data privacy law or competition law overlooks the increasing intersection between the two regimes missing opportunities for synergy In light of these challenges Esayas s volume calls for recalibrating data privacy law and competition law for a complex economy emphasizing a holistic systems level perspective that addresses emergent harms and a polycentric strategy that leverages the strengths of each legal regime

WIPO Magazine, 2017 I'm Sorry You Feel That Way Diane Negra, 2026-04-21 This book is about how twenty first century capitalism is re making the roles of customer and customer service provider shedding light on why consumer capitalism has come to feel so punishing for so many In call centers banks airports universities public transport systems hospitals and other key sites the intensification of profit imperatives alongside hyper technologization has generated an antagonistic interface between customers and workers Consumers widely report feeling trapped in the vise like grip of frustrating and confounding systems that waste significant amounts of time Positioning the poorly served customer as the definitional figure of 21st century commercial relations Diane Negra articulates a new corporate authoritarianism that allocates a broad range of digital tasks to customers Essential to this apportionment are technology platforms with high failure rates corporate devotion to byzantine bureaucratic procedures and the conspicuous constant valuing of high status customers over low status ones Compliance with new stripped down service protocols is enforced not only directly but through powerful norms and customs and affective culture is notable for converting service encounters into transactions routinely characterized by frustration impotence and fury In analyzing the service ecology and its media representations I m Sorry You Feel That Way reveals how the shift to customer work is now both totalized and thoroughly naturalized As the book maps out the changing nature of the service encounter in day to day life and in the cultural imagination reveal the emergence of corporate emotions seldom recognized as the assault on dignity they constitute
