Failure to Connect Jane M. Healy, 1999-07-13 In this comprehensive practical and unsettling look at computers in children s lives Jane M Healy Ph D questions whether computers are really helping or harming children s development Once a bedazzled enthusiast of educational computing but now a troubled skeptic Dr Healy examines the advantages and drawbacks of computer use for kids at home and school exploring its effects on children s health creativity brain development and social and emotional growth Today the Federal Government allocates scarce educational funding to wire every classroom to the Internet software companies churn out educational computer programs even for preschoolers and school administrators cut funding and space for books the arts and physical education to make room for new computer hardware It is past the time to address these issues Many parents and even some educators have been sold on the idea that computer literacy is as important as reading and math Those who haven t hopped on the techno bandwagon are left wondering whether they are shortchanging their children s education or their students futures Few people stop to consider that computers used incorrectly may do far more harm than good New technologies can be valuable educational tools when used in age appropriate ways by properly trained teachers But too often schools budget insufficiently for teacher training and technical support Likewise studies suggest that few parents know how to properly assist children s computer learning much computer time at home may be wasted time drawing children away from other developmentally important activities such as reading hobbies or creative play Moreover Dr Healy finds that much so called learning software is more edutainment than educational teaching students more about impulsively pointing and clicking for some trivial goal than about how to think to communicate to imagine or to solve problems Some software used without careful supervision may also have the potential to interrupt a child s internal motivation to learn Failure to Connect is the first book to link children s technology use to important new findings about stages of child development and brain maturation which are clearly explained throughout It illustrates through dozens of concrete examples and guidelines how computers can be used successfully with children of different age groups as supplements to classroom curricula as research tools or in family projects Dr Healy issues strong warnings however against too early computer use recommending little or no exposure before age seven when the brain is primed to take on more abstract challenges She also lists resources for reliable reviews of child oriented software suggests questions parents should ask when their children are using computers in school and discusses when and how to manage computer use at home Finally she offers a thoughtful look at the question of which skills today s children will really need for success in a technological future and how they may best acquire them Based on years of research into learning and hundreds of hours of interviews and observations with school administrators teachers parents and students Failure to Connect is a timely and eye opening examination of the central questions we must confront as technology increasingly influences the way we educate our children Classroom Connect Newsletter ,2002 Classroom Connect ,1998 Classroom Connect's A+ Yellow Pages Christopher J. Mautner,Cara Bafile,1998 Find the perfect Web site for any K 6 lesson plan investigation or online field trip More than 900 of the most valuable and fascinating edu ational sites have been packaged into one sourcebook organized into eight subject areas Only Connect Thomas Newkirk,1986 Reading/writing Connections in the K-2 Classroom Leah Mermelstein,2006 Reading Writing Connections in the K 2 Classroom demonstrates how through careful explicit assessing planning and teaching every student can understand the relationship between reading and writing The text is filled with practical classroom strategies based on both theory and research Focused on the goal of understanding the relationship between reading and writing the text demonstrates how to move students between the two to become more skillful readers and writers In three parts the text explores the essential understandings needed to use the reading writing connection demonstrates how planning helps to use the reading writing connection and outlines teaching strategies to use the connection to strengthen your everyday encounters with students Assessment is integrated into each chapter providing a clear image of what it looks like to assess in the service of student learning Practical ways to integrate phonemic awareness phonics word study and spelling into planning and teaching reading and writing are incorporated throughout Word study is integrated into every chapter to ensure a systematic approach to the topic Penn Monthly Magazine Robert Ellis Thompson,William Wilberforce Newton,Otis H. Kendall,1879 The Manhattan and de la Salle Monthly ,1875 School Library Media Activities Monthly ,2000 The Penn Monthly ,1879 The Future of Higher Education in the Middle East and Africa Habib M. Fardoun,Kevin J. Downing,Mandy Mok,2018-03-26 This book addresses some of the challenges posed by the globalization of higher education It examines the emergence and resulting challenges of English as Lingua Franca ELF and of the decision to use English as the Medium of Instruction EMI as part of a strategic policy of internationalization It looks at survival challenges caused by globalization and expansion the diversity challenge the concept of marginality and how marginality can lead to creativity teaching and encouraging entrepreneurialism the tools needed for internationalizing higher education in developing countries innovative approaches the intelligent use of technology and finally the value of non constraint engagement in driving teaching and course quality improvements The expansion of higher education and the increasingly international body of students and staff continue to inspire and drive the development of global higher education systems. Whilst these systems began locally many are now engaging with the challenges of retaining their local flavour whilst embracing the march of globalisation. The challenge is to find local solutions that also meet the requirements of the rapid development of what might be termed the massification of international higher education. This book reflects these contemporary challenges through its variety of topics taken from countries as diverse as Hong Kong, Panama, South Africa, USA and Saudi Arabia. The topics are as diverse as some of the local solutions but each chapter represents a response to a rapidly changing global landscape. The Iowa Normal Monthly, 1904 India Rubber World, 1922
