Analysing Architecture
Simon Unwin, 2020-12-29. Now in its fifth edition, Analysing Architecture has become internationally established as the best introduction to architecture. Aimed primarily at those studying architecture, it offers a clear and accessible insight into the workings of this rich and fascinating subject. With copious illustrations from his own notebooks, the author dissects examples from around the world and all periods of history to explain the underlying strategies in architectural design and show how drawing may be used as a medium for analysis. In this new edition, Analysing Architecture has been revised and expanded. Notably, the chapter on How Analysis Can Help Design has been redeveloped to clearly explain this crucially important aspect of study to a beginner readership. Four new chapters have been added to the section dealing with Themes in Spatial Organisation: on Axis, Grid, Datum, Place, and Hidden Material. From the Case Studies in previous editions, has been redistributed amongst earlier chapters. The Introduction has been completely rewritten and the format of the whole book has been adjusted to allow for the inclusion of more and better illustrative examples. Works of architecture are instruments for managing, orchestrating, modifying our relationship with the world around us. They frame just about everything we do. Architecture is complex, subtle, frustrating, but ultimately extremely rewarding. It can be a difficult discipline to get to grips with; nothing in school quite prepares anyone for the particular demands of an architecture course. But this book will help.

Exercises in Architecture Simon Unwin, 2022-08-01. This revised edition of Exercises in Architecture: Learning to Think as an Architect is full of new content building on the success of the previous edition. All the original exercises have been revised and new ones added with the format changing to allow the inclusion of more supplementary material. The aim remains the same: to help pre- or early-course architecture students begin and develop their ability to think as architects. Learning to do architecture is tricky. It involves awakening abilities that remain dormant in most people. It is like learning language for the first time: a task made more mystifying by the fact that architecture deals not in words but in places: places to stand, to walk, to sit, to hide, to sleep, to cook, to eat, to work, to play, to worship. This book was written for those who want to be architects. It suggests a basis for early experiences in a school of architecture, but it could also be used in secondary schools and colleges, or as self-directed preparation for students in the months before entering professional education. Exercises in Architecture builds on and supplements the methodology for architectural analysis presented in the author's previous book, Analysing Architecture: The Universal Language of Place Making, fifth edition, 2021, and demonstrated in his Twenty-Five Buildings Every Architect Should Understand (Routledge, 2015). Together, the three books deal with the three aspects of learning any creative discipline 1 Analysing Architecture provides a methodology for analysis that develops an understanding of the way architecture works 2 Twenty Five Buildings explores and extends that methodology through analysis of examples as case studies and 3 Exercises in Architecture offers a way of expanding understanding and developing fluency by following a range of rudimentary and more sophisticated exercises Those who wish to become professional architects wherever in the world they might be must make a conscious effort to learn the universal language of architecture as place making to explore its powers and how they might be used The exercises in this book are designed to help
