Making Media Futures Phillip H. Roth, Ana María Guzmán Olmos, Alin Olteanu, Stefan Bösch, 2025-04-22 Making Media Futures offers a multi-perspectival exploration of how imaginaries and knowledge of the future are constructed in and through various media. The volume addresses the discursive dimensions of imaginaries and future visions as well as the impact of technological material and cultural conditions on the propagation of future discourses through media. Providing both theoretically detailed and empirically rich investigations, the contributions offer a wide range of cases spanning the century from the end of World War II until today and looking at examples from the Southern Hemisphere as well as the Global North. Bringing together scholars in media studies, science and technology studies, STS, and the history and philosophy of technology, the chapters discuss future visions and imaginations of quantum computing, the uncertainty and impact of AI-based text-to-image generation, the ideology behind 5G telecommunication standards, imaginaries of the Internet of Things, transmedia strategies in global and local climate protests, how broadcast radio was implicated in the evangelical mission imaginary, and how early visions of automating scholarly information management shaped standards and ideals of academia. The volume thus complements existing approaches and analytical frameworks for the study of imaginaries and futures discourses with perspectives that are sensitive to the plurality of media-specific conditions and technologies. The book will interest students and scholars working in media studies, STS, history and philosophy, as well as at the intersection of engineering, humanities, and social sciences on matters such as sustainability, ethics, and responsible innovation.

Deepfakes Graham Meikle, 2022-09-22 What happens when we can no longer believe what we see Show the AI technologies that create deepfakes enough images of a celebrity or a politician and they will generate a convincing video in which that person appears to say and do things they have never actually said or done The result is a media environment in which anyone's face and image can be remixed and manipulated Graham Meikle explains how deepfakes synthetic media are made and used From celebrity porn and political satire to movie mash ups and disinformation campaigns this book explores themes of trust and consent as face swapping software becomes more common Meikle argues that deepfake videos allow for a new perspective on the taken for granted nature of contemporary media in which our capacity to remix and share content increasingly conflicts with our capacity to trust The book analyses how such videos deepen the social media environment in which the public and the personal converge and in which all human experience becomes data to be shared Timely clear and accessibly written this is an essential text for students and scholars of media communication cultural studies and sociology as well as general readers *No B.S. LI MAO (QING.), Qing Li, 2022-03-04

Generative adversarial networks GANs were introduced by Ian Goodfellow and his co authors including Yoshua Bengio in 2014 and were referred to by Yann Lecun Facebook's AI research director as the most interesting idea in the last 10 years in ML. GANs' potential is huge because they can learn to mimic any distribution of data which means they can be taught to create worlds similar to our own in any domain: images, music, speech, prose. They are robot artists in a sense and their output is remarkable and poignant even. In 2018 Christie's sold a portrait that had been generated by a GAN for 432,000. Although image generation has been challenging, GAN image generation has proved to be very successful and impressive. However, there are two remaining challenges for GAN image generation: the quality of the generated image and the training stability. This book first provides an overview of GANs and then discusses the task of image generation and the details of GAN image generation. It also investigates a number of approaches to address the two remaining challenges for GAN image generation. Additionally, it explores three promising applications of GANs: image-to-image translation, unsupervised domain adaptation, and GANs for security. This book appeals to students and researchers who are interested in GANs, image generation, and general machine learning and computer vision.
