Turban,2017-10-12 This new Edition of Electronic Commerce is a complete update of the leading graduate level advanced undergraduate level textbook on the subject Electronic commerce EC describes the manner in which transactions take place over electronic networks mostly the Internet It is the process of electronically buying and selling goods services and information Certain EC applications such as buying and selling stocks and airline tickets online are reaching maturity some even exceeding non Internet trades However EC is not just about buying and selling it also is about electronically communicating collaborating and discovering information It is about e learning e government social networks and much more EC is having an impact on a significant portion of the world affecting businesses professions trade and of course people The most important developments in EC since 2014 are the continuous phenomenal growth of social networks especially Facebook LinkedIn and Instagram and the trend toward conducting EC with mobile devices Other major developments are the expansion of EC globally especially in China where you can find the world s largest EC company Much attention is lately being given to smart commerce and the use of AI based analytics and big data to enhance the field Finally some emerging EC business models are changing industries e g the shared economy models of Uber and Airbnb The 2018 9th edition brings forth the latest trends in e commerce including smart commerce social commerce social collaboration shared economy innovations and mobility   Proceedings of the 2022 2nd International Conference on Economic Development and Business Culture (ICEDBC 2022) Yushi Jiang,Yuriy Shvets,Hrushikesh Mallick,2023-05-11 This is an open access book With the support of universities and the research of AEIC Academic Exchange Center The 2nd International Conference on Economic Development and Business Culture ICEDBC 2022 will be held in Dali from June 24th to 26th Compared with previous conferences it will discuss more in depth economic independent innovation open cooperation and innovative business culture under the background of the new development stage new situation and new journey era There will be a broad exchange environment Well known experts scholars or entrepreneurs in the field will be invited to make keynote reports Contributing authors are also very welcome to actively participate in the conference and build an academic exchange ceremony   World Internet Development Report 2018 Chinese Academy of Cyberspace Studies,2020-06-16 This book is an important outcome of the Fifth World Internet Conference It provides a comprehensive account of the new trends and highlights of global Internet development over the past year covering network infrastructure information technology digital economy world internet media cyber security and international cyberspace governance This year the book improves the Global Internet Development Index System and adds more countries into the assessed list in order to reflect more comprehensively objectively and accurately the general situation of the world Internet development and thus to provide reference for all countries in promoting Internet development and governance   The Drivers and Impediments for Cross-border E-commerce in the EU. ,2013 There are no official statistics on international online trade in goods so far This paper uses a consumer survey to construct a unique matrix of online B2C domestic and cross border trade in goods between the 27 EU Member States We compare online and offline trade patterns for similar goods We find that the standard gravity model performs well in explaining online cross border trade flows The model confirms the strong reduction in geographical distance related trade costs compared to offline trade However the trade costs associated with crossing language barriers increase when moving from offline to online trade Institutional variables such as the quality of legal institutions online payments facilities and costefficiency of parcel delivery systems might play a role in cross border trade but they remain statistically insignificant in this dataset In a linguistically segmented market like the EU online home market bias remains high compared to bias in offline cross border trade We conclude that it is hard to predict at this stage whether regulators could boost online cross border trade through improvements in legal and financial systems and parcel delivery infrastructure

Drug Violence, the Peso, and Northern Border Retail Activity in Mexico Thomas M. Fullerton (Jr.),Adam G. Walke,2015 Exchange rate fluctuations and international business cycles may acutely affect retail sales in border regions where residents have the option of shopping in the neighboring country This study examines the determinants of retail sales in six cities located along Mexico s northern border Retail activity in these cities is found to increase in tandem with real depreciations of the peso lower unemployment rates in neighboring US countries and increased border crossings Taken together these results suggest that cross border shopping contributes to retail activity in the northern border region of Mexico The opportunities for cross border shopping may also condition the impact of violent crime on border region retail sales In recent years northern Mexico has been deeply affected by a crime wave associated with competition among drug cartels Homicides related to organized crime are found to have a statistically significant negative impact on retail sales A surge in crime levels may stifle retail activity in affected areas as extortion and attacks force some stores to close or reduce operating schedules at the same time that some potential customers elect to shop in relatively safer districts across the international divide Page 4
