Water Resources Management in the People's Republic of China Xuetao Sun, Robert Speed, Dajun Shen, 2013-09-13

Chinese water resource managers face a challenge that is both immense and unique They must balance limited water supplies against the needs of the world's largest population demands for rapid economic growth with calls for improved environmental management and the desire for a market based approach to the allocation of water with a history of State ownership and strict government control of all resources In China changes are occurring in water resources management that are representative of many of the fundamental changes occurring within Chinese society on issues such as property rights community participation improved environmental management and the shift towards market based decision making This book describes the development of a water rights system in the People's Republic of China It covers different aspects of water resources management in China including water planning the provision of environmental flows urban water management and irrigation district management and examines how these are being addressed through a rights based approach The book includes several detailed examples of the Chinese application of water rights as they address the diverse challenges of different basins across China This book previously appeared as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Development State and Peasant in Contemporary China Jean C. Oi, 1991-08-12 This is a study of peasant state relations and village politics as they have evolved in response to the state's attempts to control the division of the harvest and extract the state defined surplus To provide the reader with a clearer sense of the evolution of peasant state relations over almost a forty year period and to highlight the dramatic changes that have taken place since 1978 I have divided my analysis into two parts Chapters 2 through 7 are on Maoist China and chapters 8 and 9 are on post Mao China The first part examines the state's grain policies and patterns of local politics that emerged during the highly collectivized Maoist period when the state closed free grain markets and established the system of unified purchase and sales tonggou tongxiao The second part describes the new methods for the production and division of the harvest after 1978 when the government decollectivized agriculture and abolished its unified procurement program The Asian Marketing Casebook
