accession Serbia and Bosnia and Herzegovina The book argues that this is a consequence of the very process of EU accession vis vis its democracy promotion strategy which has created the unintended consequences of state capture and rent seeking Rather than democratic institution building geopolitical interests such as the recent Russian war in Ukraine Kosovo lithium in Serbia and the migrant crisis have all been the catalysts for democratic backsliding This rise of state capture and media clientelism thus challenges the very idea of Normative Power Europe NPE as an exporter of democratic values and norms to third world countries Utilizing a range of interviews with journalists media experts scholars of media studies and politicians and documentary analysis of secondary and primary sources the book asks whether we can observe a similar trend of state capture specifically political clientelism vis vis the media in the newly emerging illiberal democracies in the Balkans as a novelty or if lessons can be drawn from EU members in the post accession phase It also discusses whether the political culture in both Bosnia and Serbia shaped their media environments and contributed to an overall government pervasiveness in the media sphere that is unique to that particular region as opposed to the EU Member States and what recommendations the EU needs to consider in order to promote media freedom in the Western Balkan applicants without endangering basic democratic norms State Capture through Media Clientelism in Serbia and Bosnia and Herzegovina will be of great interest to students and scholars of EU and European studies political science and media studies
