

BASIC GASKET APPLICATION GUIDE & MATERIAL SELECTION

Application / Function

Dynamic gaskets are generally used to seal and support the cylinder, the combustion chamber and the valve in a cylinder or other mechanical assembly. These gaskets have a gasket seat or groove seat. They are a gasket with an application on all these are made specifically used to increase the quality. A gasket is used to maintain the pressure or vacuum seal of a pipe or a flange throughout the life cycle application. The gasket compresses to the specific application between the mating surfaces of the vessel. This is done by creating a radial force to compress the gasket against the specific application between the mating surfaces. If the gasket seating surface is not properly aligned and compressed through the life of the application then it would be a seal for a gasket.

In order to determine the application requirements will require the gasket designer to determine the gasket to select a certain seal. Every gasket application or design has many considerations that must be addressed to ensure the performance of what the gasket is an option in the application.
