Undergraduate Student Engagement Zhe Zhang, Olwen McNamara, 2018-07-31 This book focuses on undergraduate student engagement in China and the UK It offers an innovative perspective on this aspect which although pervasive is not always acknowledged by its users to be complex and multidimensional in nature firmly rooted in cultural social and disciplinary norms and difficult to measure Competition within the global higher education market has become increasingly intense amongst universities and the higher education sector in China currently the largest source of international students is beginning to compete strongly for its home market Against this consumerist background student engagement with its close relation to positive learning outcomes is increasingly receiving attention from higher education managers and researchers who seek to improve the quality of their products The research study on which the book is based draws on three courses two in China and one in the UK It offers a binary perspective across two very different cultures Western and Confucian and two very different subject areas Chinese language and mathematics The study employs a mixed methods design and develops a conceptual framework derived from statistical and thematic analysis An original theoretical lens combining a bioecological perspective Bronfenbrenner and a sociocultural one Holland et al s Figured Worlds adds further interpretive power to help understand the construct of student engagement Saturday Review ,1969 Cumulated Index Medicus ,1965
