WRITING A SHORT STORY

1 Create a Character
Give your character a name, age, sex, and physical features. What do they look like? What do they like to do? What are their hobbies? What do they think about life?

2 Setting
A setting is where the action of a story takes place. Examples include a house, street, school, forest, or the sky. Don't forget to use good adjectives to describe your setting.

3 Story Openings
Start stories with an interesting hook that grabs the attention. Make your opening lines something that you are excited to write.

4 Conflict & Danger
Conflict is a problem or struggle that the main character of a story has to deal with. Examples: a fight, a competition, a disagreement, a problem.

5 Story Ending
A story ending is the final part of a story. It should wrap up the story and give the reader a sense of closure. There are three types of endings: a happy ending, a surprising ending, and a lesson ending. The character should be happy, sad, or thoughtful.

Types of Endings
Happy Ending: something good happens and the character is happy.
Surprising Ending: something unexpected happens.
Lesson Ending: the character learns something.
