Building a NAS Server with Raspberry Pi and Openmediavault Brian Schell, 2020-03-30 What if instead of simply plugging an external or internal hard drive into your working computer you could have a file server located somewhere in your home or office One that offers access to files for any device on the premises taking into account security settings that you can set up This is the function of a NAS or Network Attached Storage device This file server does nothing except act as a go between between the network and the hard drives

The Raspberry Pi a super inexpensive low power consumption tiny computer is just perfect for handling this task The software we will be installing to make this happen is called Openmediavault or OMV for short It s an open source project that is heavily developed and still getting new features regularly OMV is the NAS software but it all runs on the Linux operating system which means it s stable and very reliable Not to mention all this software is completely free of charge This book explains how to set up a Raspberry Pi for use as a NAS Server We ll look at hardware options downloading and installing the operating system and Openmediavault software how to configure your hard drives either with a single hard drive or as a dual drive RAID system folders and files how to get files into the Pi from other places in the house and how to access everything from other devices on the network using secure user accounts It s all you need to know and only what you need to know
