Identity Milan Kundera:

Identity Milan Kundera, 1998 Sometimes perhaps only for an instant we fail to recognise a companion for a moment their identity ceases to exist and thus we come to doubt our own The effect is at its most acute in a couple where our existence is given meaning by our perception of a lover and theirs of us With his astonishing skill at building on and out from the significant moment Kundera has placed such a situation and the resulting wave of panic at the core of the novel In a narrative as intense as it is brief a moment of confusion sets in motion a complex chain of events which forces the reader to cross and recross the divide between fantasy and reality Profound sad and disquieting but above all a love story Identity provides further proof of Kundera's astonishing gifts as a novelist

Identity Milan Kundera, 1998-04-21 Milan Kundera's Identity translated from the French by Linda Asher There are situations in which we fail for a moment to recognize the person we are with in which the identity of the other is erased while we simultaneously doubt our own That also happens with couples indeed above all with couples because lovers fear more than anything else losing sight of the loved one With stunning artfulness in expanding and playing variations on the meaningful moment Milan Kundera has made this situation and the vague sense of panic it inspires the very fabric of his new novel Here brevity goes hand in hand with intensity and a moment of bewilderment marks the start of a labyrinthine journey during which the reader repeatedly crosses the border between the real and the unreal between what occurs in the world outside and what the mind creates in its solitude Of all contemporary writers only Kundera can transform such a hidden and disconcerting perception into the material for a novel one of his finest most painful and most enlightening Which surprisingly turns out to be a love story IDENTITY SIGNDED Kundera Milan, 1998-04-24 There are situations in which we fail for a moment to recognize the person we are with in which the identity of the other is erased while we simultaneously doubt our own That also happens with couples indeed above all with couples because lovers fear more than anything else losing sight of the loved one With artfulness in expanding and playing variations on the meaningful moment Milan Kundera has made this situation and the vague sense of panic it inspires the very fabric of his new novel Here brevity goes hand in hand with intensity and a moment of bewilderment marks the start of a labyrinthine journey during which the reader repeatedly crosses the border between the real and the unreal between what occurs in the world outside and what the mind creates in its solitude Identity Giselle Walker, Elisabeth

Questions of Identity Robert B. Pynsent,1994 Questions of Identity treats four varieties of conceptions of individual and social identity This interdisciplinary book describes and analyzes four trends of thought that have prevailed at one time in most of Europe over the last two centuries the idea of the responsible citizen the concept of patriotism or nationalism the loss of self and suffering as a formative element in the national character In a section devoted to Vclav Havel Pynsent treats Havel s notion of personal identity as expressed in personal responsibility Another section concerning national identity looks in particular at two early nineteenth century Slovaks who rejected Slovak nationalism and whose ideas ultimately had a profound impact on East European thinking on nationality up to the fall of communism A third section deals with the beginnings of Modernism and the apparent disintegration of the self in West European and Czech writers The final section addresses Vladim r P ral s expositions of the Czech cult of national martyrs since St Wenceslas and the extent to which the martyr complex remains part of Czech self identification

Identity Dynamics and the Construction of Boundaries Bo Petersson, Eric Clark, 2003 How is identity constructed maintained and altered in different geographical personal and societal contexts A multi disciplinary approach is indispensable for an understanding of the deeply intertwined processes of identity construction and boundary formation In this spirit Identity Dynamics and the construction of Boundaries brings together scholars from political science human geography and area studies who present a variety of perspectives on the subject It is the fruit of a series of seminars and workshops on the themes of identity nationalism globalisation migration citizenship and the removal and displacement of borders The authors analyse a number of issues regarding identity and boundary construction drawing on case studies from a wide range of countries including Denmark Ireland Sweden and Russia
