Unlike old media the internet demands active engagement and it's actually making us more social more creative even more productive When Goldsmith a renowned conceptual artist and poet introduced a class at the University of Pennsylvania called Wasting Time on the Internet he nearly broke the internet The New Yorker the Atlantic the Washington Post Slate Vice Time CNN the Telegraph and many more ran articles expressing their shock dismay and ultimately their curiosity Goldsmith's ideas struck a nerve because they are brilliantly subversive and endlessly shareable In Wasting Time on the Internet Goldsmith expands upon his provocative insights contending that our digital lives are remaking human experience When we're wasting time we're actually creating a culture of collaboration We're reading and writing more and quite differently And we're turning concepts of authority and authenticity upside down The internet puts us in a state between deep focus and subconscious flow a state that Goldsmith argues is ideal for creativity Where that creativity takes us will be one of the stories of the twenty first century Wide ranging counterintuitive engrossing unpredictable like the internet itself Wasting Time on the Internet is the manifesto you didn't know you needed Newsweek, 2008 Web 2.0 and Beyond Tom Funk, 2009 This book presents a wealth of ideas that will enable any business to quickly and affordably deploy Web 2.0 best practices to gain customers and maximize profits Web 2.0 is more a series of trends than a basket of things More and more power is in the hands of individual users and their networks Web content is distributed sorted combined and displayed across the Web in formats and places not anticipated by the content creators New technology now makes rich online experiences and complex software applications possible and at a low cost Integration is breaking down walls between PCs and mobile devices How to Do Everything Kindle Fire Jason R.
