The golden age of television means many things to many people, but to the small band of actors, writers, and directors who would rise to prominence¹ in the late 50s and early 60s, without a doubt it meant the television shows such as Playhouse 90, on which many of them worked for the first live² time.

Despite the undeniable risks of live performances—or perhaps because of—the results rank among the greatest achievements in American entertainment. Many of its productions were later remade, both for television and film, including Requiem for a Heavyweight, Judgment at Nuremberg, and Days of Wine and Roses. Many critics maintain none of the remakes could match the brilliance and electricity of the live performances displayed in Playhouse 90.
