

Module 1 – Drawing Set Organization

1.1 SHEET IDENTIFICATION

The sheet identification format typically used in traditional construction drawing sets uses a consistent set of sheet numbers, drawing titles, and titles distributed across drawings in a drawing set regarding sheets. These techniques have also provided an opportunity to expand the use of the sheet identifier. Accordingly, the sheet identification format is a key part of V5.0.

1.1.1 Standard Sheet Identification

The sheet identification format is applicable to both manual and CAD drawings. It is consistent with standards set forth through Part 4 of this guide for project teams. The V5.0 sheet identification format standard uses consistent sheet numbering as follows:

- 1. The drawing designer – consisting of one alphanumeric character and a hyphen or two alphanumeric characters.
- 2. The sheet type identifier – consisting of one numerical character.
- 3. The sheet sequence number – consisting of two numerical characters.

The use of the drawing designer identifier identifies the sheet as a member of a project. A sheet type identifier identifies the type information on the sheet is followed by the sheet sequence number.

Regarding the use of sheet sequence numbers, V5.0 allows two levels of sheet identification. Below is a list of examples of sheet numbers used to identify sheets in the drawings of the drawings. Level 1 offers the simplest sheet numbering format and would be suitable for most building projects. Level 2 provides guidance for complex or special types of projects. Refer to V5.0 Appendix A – Drawing Designer, V5.0 Appendix B – Drawing Designer, V5.0 Appendix C – Drawing Designer for examples of the two levels of sheet identification.

Note that the hyphen in the Level 1 drawing designer ID is located after the first character of the second character. The hyphen is preferred rather than a decimal point due to the use of the “dot” character in the system. Accordingly, an underscore may be used to replace the hyphen when appropriate regarding sheet numbering. Examples of the two levels are shown below.

1.1.2 Drawing Designer

The first component of the sheet identification format, the drawing designer, is based on the building system or architectural discipline. Drawing designers using other building disciplines should use a hyphen to add to the alphanumeric characters listed in:

The drawing designer format the category of project matter contained on the sheet on the sheet description. It must appear:

Sheet ID Name Format
