

ERIC JACOB

Engineer/ Technical Writer

@ericjacob

To,
Margaret Larson
Hiring Manager
JK Softwares Limited
452 Cimarron Road
Los Angeles, California

Dear Ms. Larson,

I'm keen to apply for the Technical Writer position at JK Softwares Limited. As an Engineer with appreciable writing skills, I believe my ability to bend words and sentences in their most simplest and unambiguous form makes me a good fit for this post.

I graduated with a diploma in Software Engineering not more than 5 years ago. I've had a passion for writing ever since my school days and as I progressed towards a specific field in academia, I realized people are missing out on multiple aspects of tech, merely because most documentations and resources are full of complexities which could be easily represented in a far more digestible form. This gave me the motivation to take up Technical Writing full time and stepping out of the norms of software development jobs.

As for my experiences in writing, during my college years I've had the opportunity to work with some of my Professors in their research through writing manuscripts and simple documentations. In my senior year, I worked at Inertia Tech LLC as a Junior Technical Writer intern for 3 months which finally turned into a permanent position. My day to day life included keeping all documentations up-to-date across multiple platforms, working closely with engineers in different projects and helping them in preparing manuals, plans and documents. I'm well versed with the use of different word processing tools and even preparing minimal visuals relevant to the written materials, good at communicating my thoughts in a professional manner and a self driven person respective towards deadlines so I'm quite confident that I can be a valuable addition to the team.

Looking forward to hearing from you if I am considered as a potential applicant. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Eric Jacob

Engineer/Technical Writer
