Survival in Simplicissimus and Mutter Courage Cara M. Horwich, 1997 Argues that Hans Grimelshausen's 1625-76 Simplicissimus and Bertolt Brecht's 1898-1956 Mutter Courage and ihre Kinder share an overriding concern with human survival in a dangerous world Focuses on the depiction of various threats to survival how the characters deal with them and the price they pay for doing so Finds that both authors hold up the lower clergy as models for survival a surprise in light of the setting of religious conflict in both works and Brecht's communism Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Space and Time in Epic Theater Sarah Bryant-Bertail, 2000 The development of epic theater before during and after Brecht's time and analysis of epic productions showing the form's continued relevance Bertolt Brecht and the director Erwin Piscator developed epic theater in the 1920s because they found Western realism limited to the single perspective of an individual and thus unable to confront the new realities technological warfare revolution the metropolis and the mass media among others The epic stage juxtaposed the old media of actors and scenery with new media including film photography and electronic sound Bryant Bertail provides analyses of theatrical productions in the epic tradition from before during and after Brecht's lifetime Hasek's The Good Soldier Schwejk directed by Piscator Mother Courage written and directed by Brecht Lenz's The Tutor directed by Brecht Ibsen's Peer Gynt in productions directed by Peter Stein and Rustom Bharucha Bchner's Leon and Lena and Les Atrides The House of Atreus from Aeschylus and Euripides directed by Ariane Mnouchkine Bryant Bertail shows that epic theater's relevance for politically engaged artists lies in its discovery that history fate and human nature are spatio-temporal constructs that may be reconstructed on stage Sarah Bryant Bertail is associate professor in the School of Drama at the University of Washington

Brecht and the Art of Spectatorship Laura Bradley, 2025-07-04 Bertolt Brecht's epic theatre sought to change how spectators watched performances equipping them to critique and intervene in the world outside the theatre Taking its cue from his call for theatre to develop the art of spectatorship this major new study explores vision observation and spectatorship in twelve of his plays spanning his career It relates this analysis to Brecht's own formative experiences of spectatorship to his poems and theories and to productions directed by Brecht and his close collaborators Finally it investigates Brecht's attempts to transform the composition of the audience and cultivate critical spectatorship at the Berliner Ensemble the theatre he founded with his wife the actor Helene Weigel in East Berlin after the Second World War Brecht's plays foreground scenarios in which watching matters as characters witness acts of injustice watch trials or punishments engage in surveillance or observe scientific experiments These instances of onstage spectatorship play a key role in Brecht's drive to transform the viewing practices of the theatre audience showing the audience what characters notice what they overlook and how they use or ignore the knowledge that they have gained through spectatorship Drawing on archival material and sources that have previously been rarely consulted Laura Bradley shows how Brecht and his close collaborators Erich Engel Benno Besson Peter Palitzsch and Manfred Wekwerth dealt with onstage spectatorship in performance presenting characters as observers and spectators from whom the theatre audience should learn By combining analysis of text performance and reception Brecht and the Art of Spectatorship provides rich insights into Brecht's plays rehearsal methods and stagings and the experiences of spectators at productions of his plays in the Weimar Republic in exile and in the GDR
