Cultural Dimensions: The Five-Dimensions-Model according to Geert Hofstede Anja Dellner, 2014-09-03 Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject Cultural Studies Basics and Definitions grade 1 3 Dresden Technical University language English abstract Be it in the business world as a traveller trying to master a foreign language or to teach it nowadays we meet people of foreign cultures more frequently than this was the case just 50 or even 100 years ago Even though linguistic difficulties are often surmountable through English as lingua franca meeting people from cultures we are unfamiliar with bears the potential for many misunderstandings These in turn quite often lead to lack of understanding conflict even political disaster like in 2005 with the Danish caricature scandal involving the newspaper Jyllands Posten when a fundamentalist Muslim cleric from Egypt living in Denmark felt offended and ridiculed in his religious beliefs by caricatures featuring Mohammed The Islamic world thereby rallied to the case and did not only react with outrage and boycott but with violent attacks in the course of which 140 people lost their lives and several hundred were injured Milder reactions like rejection and hidden resentment are however the more common outcomes due to intercultural misunderstandings How otherwise would there be stereotypes mostly carrying negative connotations like the obedient Chinese the superficial American or the super punctual German lacking humor The Dutch anthropologist and cultural scientist Geert Hofstede suggests that the reason for such misunderstandings is a culturally divergent often concealed moral concept with a direct impact on human actions and thinking Hofstede has devoted himself to this issue and has developed a model based on a long time study elucidating peculiarities of and differences between national cultures in comparison Thereby Hofstede classified national cultures according to five pillars also called dimensions which dependent on the nation vary markedly and in his study are set in relation to each other The subject and the goal of this assignment is to present the main features of Hofstede s Model of the Five Dimensions of National Cultures Following the practical applicability of this model is briefly discussed

Critical Analysis of Hofstede's Model of Cultural Dimensions Kristin Piepenburg, 2011-04 Master s Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 0 Oxford Brookes University language English abstract Global markets are changing faster than ever and increasing international competition makes it necessary for managers to understand not only the domestic culture but also the host country s culture Derived from globalisation successful cross cultural management is gaining in importance and its need for understanding of cultural differences becomes essential Because of this it is argued that with the increasing importance of a cross cultural understanding Hofstede s 1980 model of cultural dimensions gains proportional importance and attracts notice at the same time His study is widely used in global operating organisations within trainings and workshops The first step of effective cross cultural management is the awareness that cultural differences exist and domestic strategies might fail in host countries Even though Hofstede s 1980 cultural study is the most important one and widely known there are many other cultural studies which are only partly supporting his study For each and every model of cultural identifications arouse praise and criticism and Hofstede was not spared by criticism The main criticism refers to the methodology Hofstede used and many authors questioned its validity and reliability Another major critique is that the nearly 40 years old survey findings are out dated and not of any modern value anymore Addressing the elaborated criticisms from the literature a personal replication study within the two countries of Germany and the UK is undertaken in order to evaluate the validity reliability and applicability in the 21st century This study has developed own dimension scores for Masculinity Femininity MAS and Uncertainty Avoidance UA for Germany and the UK and compared and evaluated these with Hofstede s findings The findings of this st

Comparison of Germany-China on the Basis of Geert Hofstede's Dimensions of National Culture Madeline Gremme, 2015-05-21 Seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject Sociology Culture Technology Nations grade 3 0 University of applied sciences Dortmund course Interkulturelle Kompetenzen language English abstract Coming across the term culture it is most certain that people tend to think immediately of the picture they have already created in mind towards the other culture Comparing east to west while talking to other people within my family and my class I got usually the same answers China isn t it the country were lots of people live like ants drinking tea and eating almost everything mostly rice and even your dog with chopsticks driving with their bicycle through the streets smiling all the time no matter what weather they have Unfortunately I do not know any Chinese people but the prejudices about Germany are widely known Germany is the country with less people than China Germans love to grump about the weather when it is raining they love to drink beer and eat Bavarian veal sausages In fact the prejudices of Germany mostly deal with the Bavarian part of Germany leaving the impression within peoples mind that all Germans are wearing a Dirndl all day and are distinct individuals Having a look at the above mentioned images illustrating people s usual thoughts of the other culture towards a certain topic it is more a generalized attitude towards a certain country or culture Today people define the term culture very differently If they are asked What does the term culture mean we can hardly get exact answers In fact culture can be expressed in different ways It can be seen in the language of a country in its history and art but also in food music and education These things are all visible for our eyes but what about cultural behavior and ways of thinking How do different cultures express their emotions and how are they living together All these factors in one are illustrating a certain view on a culture for us

Intercultural Communication Within the Tourism Industry Corinna Vellnagel, 2010-11 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2010 in the subject Tourism Miscellaneous grade 2.0 University of Cooperative Education Ravensburg language English abstract Tourism is the most superficial way of an intercultural encounter¹ and one of the biggest industrial sectors in the world The WTTC World Travel and Tourism Council estimates that over 230 million jobs in world are supported by the tourism industry which equates to 8.3 per cent of total global employment or one in every 12 jobs. Furthermore the latest statistics from 2008 show that tourism has not reached its peak yet. Over 80 countries earned more than 642 billion through international tourism in 2008 while in 1990 it had only been 207 billion. Another statistic representing and pointing up the booming tendency is the one showing the international tourist arrivals while there had only been 25 million arrivals in 1950 the number constantly rose to 922 million in 2008 and by 2020 1.6 billion international tourist arrivals are expected. With so many tourists spending time abroad every year it is a logical consequence that different culture groups meet. From time to time people may spend two weeks in Turkey, Dubai, Cancun or on Bali. This unfortunately might happen without the people even getting the local culture rudimentarily. But if they try to get to know the local culture difficulties may occur. It is not only the language which is different and causes troubles and misunderstandings in communication attitudes and the way people think vary greatly. Tourists often do not prepare themselves properly for their stays abroad just reading a travel guide may not be sufficient at all. When going abroad people need to be aware of different behavioural rules and patterns. But not only tourists have to face this problem. In the tourism industry many people work abroad which not only leads to multicultural teams but also to misunderstandings going back to cultural differences.

These groups both Portugal and Germany Miguel Fonseca, 2014-02-28 Seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject Communications Intercultural Communication grade 1.3 University of applied sciences Dortmund language English comment Vergleich zweier Lander Portugal Deutschland anhand Hofstede und Bildung eines Teams aus Personen dieser Lander Hier werden die beiden Lander Portugal und Deutschland gegenubergestellt anhand der Theorie von Gert Hofstede Es wird auf die einzelne Dimension eingegangen und am Ende erfolgt eine Ausarbeitung wie eine mogliche Zusammenarbeit stattfinden kann Der Text ist auf englischer Sprache abstract The political situation between Portugal and Germany is very solid and is based on a broad basis. The governments of the two countries work very closely together and in the majority of political aspects concerning the European and the international policy they agree with each other. The Portuguese economy depends a lot on tourism most of the tourists came from Germany and France. Each year millions of tourists from different countries with different cultures visit Portugal for holidays and it is interesting to find out whether the different cultures modify the Portuguese way of life and what influences the many cultures have. This is why Portugal and its culture is an interesting topic for the research and investigation. The following term paper explains, describes and compares the difference in culture between Germany and Portugal Cultural Impact on Models of Negotiation using the Example of Distributive Negotiations Niklas Dahlen, 2018-05-16 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Business economics Miscellaneous grade 1.3 EBC University Hamburg language English abstract Published in 1982 Howard Raiffa's book The Art and Science of Negotiation constitutes the dawn of a new era with its asymmetrically prescriptive descriptive orientation. It consolidated distinctive approaches, boosted research and overcame thinking barriers In times of a globalized highly interdependent world with multibillion dollar cross border M A transactions international business negotiations are an essential part of the global economy and shape a company s success This thesis describes the cultural dimensions of Hofstede and Hall and additionally Raiffa s negotiation analysis from the perspective of distributive negotiations A new approach for international business negotiations is introduced which should enable negotiators to deal with differences at an international stage In order to understand if and how culture affects negotiation hypotheses are derived from theoretical grounded work By conducting several interviews with negotiators from different cultural backgrounds tendencies are illustrated and the question whether further empirical research is needed is answered The interviews show that negotiations between individuals from countries with different power distance indexes often lead to non agreements Moreover the interviewees think that negotiators with an individualist mindset are more likely to reach an agreement in distributive negotiations Lastly the interview reveals that negotiators from a country scoring high in masculinity tend to apply rather distributive than integrative negotiation styles Further validation of the hypotheses with case studies and experiments have yet to be conducted

Masculinity and Femininity Geert Hofstede, 1998-05-13 In 1980 Geert Hofstede published his monumental work Culture s Consequences which laid out four dimensions on which the differences among national cultures could be understood individualism power distance uncertainty avoidance and masculinity Since then much research has been conducted and presented on individualism collectivism but until now no single volume has focused on the masculinity dimension of the model In Masculinity and Femininity Hofstede has expanded sharpened and deepened the discussion of masculinity and femininity This new volume presents the first thoroughly developed discussion of this dimension and how it can help us understand the differences among cultures It begins with a general explanation of masculinity and discusses how it illuminates broad features of different cultures It then applies the dimension more specifically to gender sexuality and religion Finally the book examines how the masculinity dimension reveals a lot about a culture s expressions of religious ideas the importance its citizens attach to religion and the way religious concepts are understood Intended as a companion volume to Kim s Individualism and Collectivism this important volume will be of interest to those teaching courses such as cross cultural
