State Crime, Women and Gender Victoria E. Collins, 2015-10-05 The United Nations has called violence against women the most pervasive yet least recognized human rights abuse in the world and there is a long established history of the systematic victimization of women by the state during times of peace and conflict This book contributes to the established literature on women gender and crime and the growing research on state crime and extends the discussion of violence against women to include the role and extent of crime and violence perpetrated by the state State Crime Women and Gender examines state perpetrated violence against women in all its various forms Drawing on case studies from around the world patterns of state perpetrated violence are examined as it relates to women s victimization their role as perpetrators resisters of state violence as well as their engagement as professionals in the international criminal justice system From the direct involvement of Condoleezza Rice in the United States led war on terror to the women of Egypt s Arab Spring Uprising to Afghani poetry as a means to resist state sanctioned patriarchal control case examples are used to highlight the pervasive and enduring problem of state perpetrated violence against women The exploration of topics that have not previously been addressed in the criminological literature such as women as perpetrators of state violence and their role as willing consumers who reinforce and replicate the existing state sanctioned patriarchal status quo makes State Crime Women and Gender a must read for students and scholars engaged in the study of state crime victimology and feminist criminology

Minority Rights, Feminism and International Law Silvia Gagliardi, 2020-05-26 Investigating minority and indigenous women s rights in Muslim majority states this book critically examines the human rights regime within international law Based on extensive and diverse ethnographic research on Amazigh women in Morocco the book unpacks and challenges generally accepted notions of rights and equality Significantly and controversially the book challenges the supposedly emancipatory power vested in the human rights project arguing that rights based discourses are sites of contestation for different groups that use them to assert their agency in society More specifically it shows how the very conditions that make minority and indigenous women instrumental to the preservation of their culture may condemn them to a position of subalternity In response and engaging the notion and meaning of Islamic feminism the book proposes that feminism should be interpreted and contextualised locally in order to be effective and inclusive and so in order for the human rights project to fully realise its potential to empower the marginalised and make space for their voices to be heard Providing a detailed empirically based analysis of rights in action this book will be of relevance to scholars students and practitioners in human rights policy and practice in international law minorities and indigenous peoples rights gender studies and Middle Eastern and North African Studies
