Demographic Transition Model

The Demographic Transition Model (DTM) describes the changes in a country's population structure over time. It is divided into five stages, from high birth and death rates to low birth and death rates.

Stage 1

Stage 1 is characterized by high birth rates and high death rates. Because of this, the natural increase rate is close to zero. The population grows slowly because the death rate is so high. The population remains low because the birth rate and the death rate are both high and close to each other.
