Signs in Activities Dorthe Duncker, Adrian Pablé, 2024-03-27 This book is a collective volume bringing together scholars who share an interest in linguistics from an integrational point of view and in developing new directions for future scholarship Integrational linguistics invites us to rethink the theoretical and methodological premises of general linguistics by drawing on a different conception of the sign and by recognizing the creativity that human communication requires Some chapters are concerned with concepts like the sign contextualization activity and integration Although being core concepts developed by the founder of integrational linguistics Roy Harris they have arguably remained underdeveloped in Harris writings and thus call for further clarification and investigation Other chapters are concerned with the notions of the self and the social experience and interaction with questions about individual agency and will and human sociality and social organization which all occupy a central position in integrational theory Finally remaining chapters focus on how scriptism and the language myth have influenced our way of thinking about communication in a broad sense This edited collection will be of interest to a multidisciplinary readership comprising those engaged in study teaching and research in the humanities and social sciences including anthropology the arts education linguistics literary studies philosophy psychology and semiotics

Leveraging Today's Social Media Mark D. Benigni, Barbara A. Haeffner, Susan O. Moore, Jeffrey F. Solan, 2025-12-11 Explore how schools can leverage social media to enhance student learning from showcasing student work and facilitating college connections to improving communication with families and fostering community engagement

Security, Constitutionalism and Legal Systems Paola Piciacchia, 2026-02-20 The book explores through new studies the theme of security in its multiple delineations from a comparative and European public law perspective It highlights the current complexity of the dynamics related to public security at the domestic and international levels and the reflections that these dynamics may have on contemporary constitutionalism and the rule of law It critically examines how contemporary challenges reshape the concept of security and its relationship with democratic governance and fundamental rights From this perspective the volume presents different analytical contributions that together create a multifaceted picture as does the importance of new reflections on emerging challenges such as those determined by evolving technologies In light of this picture by integrating theoretical analysis with empirical case studies this volume provides a comprehensive perspective on security and defence governance in contemporary legal systems and helps to understand the complexity of security profiles which today tend to intertwine These analyses increasingly demonstrate the need for state resilience responsiveness and the coordination of public defence and security policies
