The Making and Remaking of China's "Red Classics" Rosemary Roberts, Li Li, 2017-10-19 The Making and Remaking of China's Red Classics is the first full length work to bring together research on the red classics across the entire Maoist period through to the reform era It covers a representative range of genres including novels short stories films TV series picture books animation and traditional style paintings Collectively the chapters offer a panoramic view of the production and reception of the original red classics and the adaptations and remakes of such works after the Cultural Revolution The contributors present fascinating stories of how a work came to be regarded as or failed to become a red classic There has never been a single answer to the question of what counts as a red classic artists had to negotiate the changing political circumstances and adopt the correct artistic technique to bring out the authentic image of the people while appealing to the taste of the mass audience at the same time A critical examination of these works reveals their sociopolitical and ideological import aesthetic significance and function as a mass cultural phenomenon at particular historical moments This volume marks a step forward in the growing field of the study of Maoist cultural products The Making and Remaking of China's Red Classics analyzes the creation of literature in the Maoist era as well as the way in which the revolutionary canon was rediscovered and imagined during the reform period This book is a timely and fascinating set of studies critically illuminating a foundational time during PRC history and its aftermath Wendy Larson professor emerita University of Oregon Creative works produced in the Mao era 1942-1976 are often dismissed as mere propaganda Despite the fact that they are artistic reflections of that remarkable period scholars have generally ignored these red classics This book throws much needed light on them It is a must read for anyone wanting to understand the cultural scene in China Kam Louie honorary professor University of Hong Kong and UNSW Australia

Lineages Embedded in Temple Networks Richard G. Wang, 2023-11-20 Lineages Embedded in Temple Networks explores the key role played by elite Daoists in social and cultural life in Ming China notably by mediating between local networks biological lineages territorial communities temples and festivals and the state They did this through their organization in clerical lineages their own empire wide networks for channeling knowledge patronage and resources and by controlling central temples that were nodes of local social structures In this book the only comprehensive social history of local Daoism during the Ming largely based on literary sources and fieldwork Richard G Wang delineates the interface between local organizations such as lineages and temple networks and central state institutions The first part provides the framework for viewing Daoism as a social institution in regard to both its religious lineages and its service to the state in the bureaucratic apparatus to implement state orthodoxy The second part follows four cases to reveal the connections between clerical lineages and local networks Wang illustrates how Daoism claimed a universal ideology and civilizing force that mediated between local organizations and central state institutions which in turn brought meaning and legitimacy to both local society and the state

The Taoist Canon Kristofer Schipper,Franciscus Verellen,2019-09-01 Taoism remains the only major religion whose canonical texts have not been systematically arranged and made available for study This long awaited work a milestone in Chinese studies catalogs and describes all existing texts within the Taoist canon The result will not only make the entire range of existing Taoist texts accessible to scholars of religion it will open up a crucial resource in the study of the history of China The vast literature of the Taoist canon or Daozang survives in a Ming Dynasty edition of some fifteen hundred different texts Compiled under imperial auspices and completed in 1445 with a supplement added in 1607 many of the books in the Daozang concern the history organization and liturgy of China s indigenous religion A large number of works deal with medicine alchemy and divination If scholars have long neglected this unique storehouse of China s religious traditions it is largely because it was so difficult to find one s way within it Not only was the rationale of its medieval classification system inoperable for the many new texts that later entered the Daozang but the system itself was no longer understood by the Ming editors hence the haphazard arrangement of the canon as it has come down to us This new work sets out the contents of the Daozang chronologically allowing the reader to follow the long evolution of Taoist literature Lavishly illustrated the first volume ranges from antiquity through the Middle Ages while the second spans the modern period Within this frame texts are grouped by theme and subject Each one is the subject of a historical abstract that identifies the text s contents date of origin and author Throughout the first two volumes introductions outline the evolution of Taoism and its spiritual heritage A third volume offering biographical sketches of frequently mentioned Taoists multiple indexes and an extensive bibliography provides critical tools for navigating this guide to one of the fundamental aspects of Chinese culture

Historical Dictionary of Daoism Ronnie L. Littlejohn,2019-11-29 Daoism is the oldest indigenous philosophic spiritual tradition of China and one of the most ancient of the world s spiritual structures The name Daoism comes from the term dao which means a way or a road through the field or woods to one s village It is also means the way to do something such as how a master craftsman carves wood makes a bell or even butchers an ox But dao is also a nominative in the history of Daoism referring to the energizing process that permeates and animates all of reality and moves it along However both text and practice in this tradition insist that dao itself cannot be described in words it is not God in the sense of Western philosophy or religion Daoism has no supreme being even if there is an extensive grammar about nominally self conscious entities and powers for which the Chinese use the word spirit shen For example the highest powers of Daoism are variously called Taishang Laojun the deified Laozi the Celestial Worthy of Primordial Beginning Yuanshi tianzun the Jade Emperor Yuhuang Shangdi or the Perfected Warrior Zhenwu But these are expressions of dao in specific shen they are not identical to Dao except in the most unique case when Laozi the putative founder of Daoism and author of its major work Daodejing is said to be one with the dao

Historical Dictionary of Daoism contains a chronology an introduction appendixes an extensive bibliography and more than 400 cross referenced entries related to the Chinese belief and worldview known as Daoism including dozens of Daoist terms names and practices This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Daoism
